Consecutive Office No. 332—Departmental 1083, Superintendents 82.

Board of Trade, Marine Department, January 1888.

INSTRUCTIONS TO SUPERINTENDENTS.

PAYMENT OF WAGES IN INDIA AND PORTS ABROAD.

Rate of Exchange.

THE practice of seamen signing agreements containing provisions for the payment of their wages (in the event of their being discharged abroad) at a fixed rate of exchange is reported to be on the increase.

The result of seamen signing such agreements is, owing to the present low rate of exchange for the rupee, that if paid off in India they receive only about three-fourths of the amount of wages which would be due to them if paid at the current rate of exchange.

The Superintendent is requested, therefore, to be careful to assure himself that seamen before signing such agreements are fully aware of the consequences of their so doing.

This instruction equally applies in the case of vessels bound to all foreign countries where the seamen's agreements provide for the payment of their wages at a fixed rate of exchange.

No. 253. IMPORTANT TO SEAMEN.

PAYMENT OF WAGES IN INDIA AND OTHER PORTS ABROAD.

Rate of Exchange.

THE practice of seamen signing agreements which contain provisions for the payment of their wages (in the event of their being discharged abroad) at a fixed rate of exchange is reported to be on the increase.

Seamen are therefore hereby warned that, if they agree to a condition that they are to be paid off in India at the rate of 2*s.* a rupee, they will, owing to the present low value of the rupee, receive about three-fourths only of the sum they would be entitled to if no such condition were inserted in the agreement.

Seamen are also warned that the higher the value placed upon the rupee or other foreign coin, the less money they will receive. For instance, if a seaman's wages are £5 a month, and he is paid off at 2*s.* a rupee, he will receive 50 rupees for each month, but if he is paid off at 1*s.* 5*d.* per rupee, the present current rate of exchange, he will receive about 70 rupees.

Or again, supposing the seaman's wages are £5 a month, and he is paid off at a port in the United States at 4*s.* 6*d.* per dollar, he will receive about 22 dollars per month, but if he is paid off at 4*s.* 2*d.* per dollar, the present current rate of exchange, he will receive 24 dollars.

This caution applies equally to vessels bound to all foreign countries where the seamen's agreements provide for the payment of their wages at a fixed rate of exchange.

This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Magistrate, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by Government. The Magistrate shall be in no way bound to accept the highest bid made, and shall give due consideration to the claims of a former lessee if he is prepared to give what seems a fair rent.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 124.

The 3rd April 1888.

THE subjoined accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Backergunge and Mymensingh for the half-year ending 31st March 1887, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, are published for general information.

W. B. BESTIC,
Under-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

No. 588, dated Burrisal, the 8th August 1887.

From—H. J. H. FASSON, ESQ., Chairman of the District Board, Backergunge,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

IN accordance with the instruction conveyed in the Bengal Government Circular No. 6, dated 12th March 1887, received with your No. 30M.R.—R.C., dated 7th April last, I have the honour to submit the following report on the administration of the District Road Fund of this district during half of the cess year 1886-87, from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887, together with the detailed accounts of receipts and expenditure for that period.

2. The Road Cess Committee ceased to exist from 1st April from which date the Bengal Local Self-Government Act III (B.C.) of 1885 has come into force in this district.

3. The budget estimate of receipts and expenditure for the whole year from 1st October 1886 to 30th September 1887 was passed at a meeting of the Committee held on 31st August 1886, and approved by the Commissioner by his letter No. 1364M.R.—R.C., dated 28th September 1886.

4. The total income, including the estimated opening balance, was set down at Rs. 1,65,035 and the expenditure at Rs. 1,41,126. A sum of Rs. 52,032 was allotted for original works, Rs. 22,751 for repairs, Rs. 40,572 for establishment, Rs. 7,200 for subsidizing steamer service and Rs. 18,631 for other expenditure leaving a closing balance of Rs. 23,909 from which Rs. 9,701 was subsequently allotted to work.

5. In comparision with the allotment the expenditure on works is very small which is owing to the fact that in this district works chiefly consisting of throwing earth can be done during the four months from February to May, and the works done before the 1st April were not all measured, and could not be paid for before that date.

6. As usual the monthly accounts were audited and submitted to the Accountant-General.

7. The District Committee met twice during the period under report, and the members present took the usual amount of interest in the transaction of business brought before them. The Branch Committees are also reported to have worked well. * * *

8. As in the previous year, the road cess has been levied at half the maximum rate laid down in the Act.

9. The following statement shows the demand, collection and expenditure during the half-year under report and the corresponding half-year of the year preceding. The percentage of collection of cess to total demand during the half-year was 80·12 against 77·61 of the previous year:—

TOTAL DEMAND, INCLUDING ARREARS.		TOTAL COLLECTION.		TOTAL EXPENDITURE.
1885-86.	1886-87.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1885-86.	1886-87.

10. Original Works.—Of the original works undertaken, the following are important and the progress made with them is reported by the District Engineer as follows:—

(1) Dowlatkhan road bridging.—Three-fourths of the works of bridges Nos. 1, 2, and 4 finished and work of bridge No. 3 commenced. The roadway of bridge No. 2 has been fitted and finishing remains to be done.

(2) Gazipur road bridging.—Completed.

(3) Tarnirhat road bridging.—Three-fourths of bridge No. 1 done, and manufacture of materials for bridge No. 2 is nearly finished.

(4) Harinafulia road.—Greater portion of the remaining earth-work has been done in the first section. Some earthwork has also been done in the third section.

(5) Mendigunge road.—Greater portion of the earthwork is done.

(6) Chandakhali khal.—The project for this work was sanctioned in the middle of March. A contractor was found immediately, who has done a portion of the work.

No progress has been made with the Deuli and Dadhibhanga khals, the estimates of which were sanctioned in the middle of March.

11. Repairs.—The District Engineer reports that all the roads and khals under the Committee, for which allotments are made in the Road Cess Budget, have been kept clear of jungle, and earthwork necessary for the proper repair and maintenance of the works undertaken. Dressing of the earth thrown was not properly done before the end of March, and that much damage has been done to the roads by the unusual rise of water in the latter end of May.

12. Village works.—No payment was made under this head during the half-year, excepting Rs. 348 in the Patuakhali sub-division. Much earthwork was done in this and the Sudder Sub-division, but no payment could be made as the works were not measured before the end of March. Construction of several wooden bridges sanctioned for the Sudder sub-division was in progress.

13. Steamer communication.—The steamer service between Burrisal and Khulna has been regularly maintained by the Bengal Central Flotilla Company, who have been subsidized by the Committee. The service between Burrisal and Patuakhali, which was also subsidized to end of December 1886, has since collapsed.

14. Arboriculture.—In this district arboriculture is unnecessary. No fund was provided for in the budget under this head except small sums in the repair estimates for the proper maintenance and protection of the trees already planted.

15. Establishment.—There was a change in the Engineering staff. Baboo Jagadish Chandra Roy left the district in November on a mutual transfer, and Baboo Jogendra Nath Ghosh took his place. He has already infused much wanted energy into the department. The present staff under him is considered insufficient owing to the numerous village works they have to supervise. It is contemplated to strengthen it by an addition of two sub-overseers.

16. The different establishments under the Committee worked satisfactorily.

No. 353, dated Mymensingh, the 6th June 1887.

From—E. G. GLAZIER, ESQ., C.S., Chairman, District Road Committee, Mymensingh,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

WITH reference to Bengal Government's circular No. 6, dated 29th March 1887, copy of which was forwarded with your office No. 30M R.—R.C. of 7th April 1887, and subsequent No. 507M.R.—R.C. of the 30th idem, I have the honour to submit a report on the working of the Mymensingh District Road Committee for the half-year from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887.

2. The Road Cess Act has been in force in this district since October 1875, and this report is for the first-half of the 12th year of its working.

* * * * * * * * *

4. The road cess on lands has been levied at the maximum rate of one half-anna on each rupee of the annual value ever since the operation of the Cess Act in this district. The net collections on account of cess on lands during the half-year amounted to Rs. 85,057 against the estimated demand of Rs. 1,45,480 for the year. The arrear at the close of the period was Rs. 19,018, and the percentage of collection on demand was 94·5, as stated in the report of the collection office.

5. The half-yearly account of the District Road Fund was opened with a balance of Rs. 60,599-14-3, and closed with a balance of Rs. 84,087-11-3; the net receipts were Rs. 1,02,979-13-6, and the disbursement Rs. 79,492-0-6 under the prescribed heads of the account. The contribution of Rs. 900 from Government towards the cost of the joint establishment for the collection of road and public works cesses, and that of Rs. 1,025 on Government estates were received during the period. The contribution towards the cost of the revaluation work will be realized from Government, as stated in Board of Revenue's circular No. 4 of August 1883.

6. The expenditure under head "original works" during the half-year under report amounted to Rs. 32,281-2-9 against the allotment of Rs. 1,05,958 for the year on the road works, as shown in the revised budget estimate submitted to you with this office letter No. 102, dated 10th December 1886. The works principally consisted of masonry culverts and bridges with iron tops, earthen glazed pipe culverts, earthwork for raising and improving important district roads. The earthwork of three new district roads (Ramgopalpore to Kishoregunge road, Kateadi to Bazitpore road, and Phulbaria to Tangail road) and of some masonry bridges was begun during the period. Certain masonry bridges, with a timber one in hand during the previous year, were completed during the period under report, and the brick manufacture for certain masonry bridges on the district roads, was in progress. The metalling on a road and three timber bridges on different roads were in progress, and certain ferry boats were also supplied during the period under review. The remaining works as per budget estimate are now in progress.

7. The expenditure under head "repairs" during the half-year under report amounted Rs. 6,116-14-6, against the allotment of Rs. 26,816 for the year, with a view to keep the existing district roads and bridges in passable and good order by maintenance of the surface, slopes and by clearing jungle The inspection bungalows, with ferry boats on the important roads, were repaired as required. The remaining works as per budget estimate are now in progress.

8. The following statement shows the provision made and expenditure incurred by the district and the branch committees for the village communications under the category of original and repair works:—

	Amount allotted for one year.	Amount expended in half-year.
	Rs.	Rs.	A.	P.

Netrokona ditto	9,000	1,555	4	0
Total ...	36,000	8,278	5	6

The remaining works as per estimates of the sub-divisions are now in progress.

9. In arboriculture a sum of Rs. 80-9-9 was expended for planting and maintaining trees on the district road sides during the half-year under report. A good many jack trees have borne fruit, the sale proceeds of which have been credited to the fund as usual.

10. The subjoined table shows the percentage cost of the different establishments (exclusive of contribution towards the pay and office establishment of Divisional Superintendent of Works) employed under the District Road Committee during the half-year under review. The total charges on account of establishment and contingencies were below the limit of 25 per cent. of the income, as stated in section 135 of the Cess Act, IX of 1880. The different establishments employed under the committee during the period have worked satisfactorily.

R. C. DUTT.

Chairman, District Board.

No. 446T., dated Camp Burrisal, the 8th December 1887.

From—W. R. LARMINIE, Esq., Commissioner of the Dacca Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

IN accordance with the provisions of section 179 of the Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880, I have the honour to submit herewith the accounts and reports of the road cess funds for the districts of Backergunge and Mymensingh for the half-year from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887. The reports give full and clear accounts of the various works executed during the half-year. I need therefore only add a few remarks on the general road cess administration in those districts.

2. The Road Cess Committees ceased to exist from 1st April last, from which date the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, III (B.C.) of 1885, came into force in these districts.

* * * * * * * *

4. The road cess was levied at the full rate in the district of Mymensingh, while in Backergunge it was levied at only half rates.

5. The total collections on account of cess on lands in the districts of Backergunge and Mymensingh during the half-year amounted to Rs. 52,154 and Rs 85,057, against the estimated demand of Rs. 95,735 and Rs. 1,45,480 for the cess year 1886-87 respectively.

6. Original works.—The expenditure under this head during the half-year amounted to Rs. 41,215 against an allotment of Rs. 1,57,090 for the cess year, as shown below :—

	Allotment for the year.	Expenditure.
	Rs.	Rs.
Backergunge	52,032	8,934
Mymensingh	1,05,058	32,281
Total ...	1,57,090	41,215

7. It will be seen from the above that the expenditure under this head in Backergunge was very small in comparison with the allotment made for the year. This has been sufficiently accounted for by the Chairman in paragraph 5 of his report. The money was in all cases judiciously spent on the construction of roads, masonry culverts, and in the bridging of the existing roads.

8. Repairs.—All the existing roads, bridges, and khals are reported to have been maintained in an efficient state. The following statement shows the allotments made under this head for the cess year and the expenditure incurred during the half-year :—

	Allotment made.	Expenditure.
	Rs.	Rs.
Backergunge	22,751	2,066
Mymensingh	26,816	6,417

9. Feeder roads.—No expenditure was incurred under this head during the half-year in any of the two districts.

10. Village communications.—The works under this head, both original and repairs, executed during the half-year were not such as to call for any special remark.

11. Arboriculture.—In Backergunge arboriculture is reported to be unnecessary, and consequently no funds were provided for it in the budget. In Mymensingh a sum of Rs. 80-9-9 was expended under this head during the half-year under report.

12. Steamer service.—The steamer service between Burrisal and Khulna, for which a subsidy was granted by the Committee, is reported to have been regularly maintained during the half-year while that from Burrisal and Patuakhally for which a subsidy was also granted up to the end of December 1886, has since collapsed.

13. Meeting.—The percentage of average attendance of members was not very satisfactory, but the members present are reported to have taken some interest in the transaction of business brought before them.

14. Auditing.—The accounts of the district road fund for the half-year were duly audited and submitted to the Accountant-General, Bengal.

15. Establishment.—The executive and office staff employed by the Road Cess Committees are reported to have worked satisfactorily.

RESOLUTION ON THE OPIUM ADMINISTRATION REPORT FOR 1886-87.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MIS. REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 29th March 1888.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter No. 61B, dated 30th January 1888, from the Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, submitting the reports of the Opium Agents of Behar and Benares for the year 1886-87.

Settlements.

As there was a considerable stock of opium in hand at the commencement of the year, the Agents were requested to refrain from increasing production by adding to the area under cultivation. The present report shows that these instructions have been duly carried out, the land engaged for, 919,852 bighas, corresponding as nearly as possible with that entered in the returns of 1885-86. The Agents took advantage of the cessation of the work of extension to concentrate their operations in the districts where most profit can be obtained, to get rid of outlying stations, to weed out unsatisfactory cultivators, including those who have engaged to sow indigo on the land they also offer for opium, and in some instances to stop cultivation in the immediate neighbourhood of towns, where exceptional opportunities exist for smuggling. This is a subject to which the Lieutenant-Governor desires to draw the special attention of the Board and of officers of the Opium Department, with a view to the more general introduction of the methods which have been applied with success in some localities. When the main object was to increase the reserve, exhausted by the meagre results of indifferent years, it was impossible to insist upon the selection for opium of the best land, or of that most conveniently situated.

But now that officers have time to devote to the subject, every effort should be made to effect the settlement to the greatest advantage by the judicious selection of areas and of cultivators. The ryots are eager to enter into engagements, and there is thus an opportunity of exercising a choice by expanding cultivation in one place, while contracting it in another. There is also a considerable margin for the increase of production generally, should this be found desirable. The notes of Mr. Cadell, lately officiating as the Benares Agent, show that he rendered valuable services in this matter, to which Mr. Rivett-Carnac has also paid intelligent attention.

Quantity of opium obtained.

2. The outturn was not altogether satisfactory, being 1,07,577 maunds against 1,21,499 maunds in the previous year, and 1,33,803 maunds in 1884-85. The decrease appears due in the Benares Agency to the fact that about 2·34 per cent. of the area for which settlements were concluded was never in fact cultivated, the ryots being discouraged by the failure of the first sowings; while in the Behar Agency the yield was small, the hot winds having dried up the poppy juice. The average produce per bigha was 5 seers 3 chittacks and 2 katchas in Benares; 4 seers 5¼ chittacks in Behar. The deficiency in Behar was to some extent a surprise, as the plants were well grown; it was not discovered until the lancing of the poppy disclosed the scantiness of the juice.

Quality of opium.

3. The low consistence of Benares opium having been a subject of comment in the Resolutions on the annual reports of the last two years, it is satisfactory to observe that during the last season a great improvement has been effected. The Agent states that the quality of the drug, as shown by the factory assay, was good, and that in no year, except the exceptional season of 1883-84, has the proportion of good serviceable opium been larger. This statement is altogether borne out by the following figures, which show how the opium has been classified:—

Seasons.	Class XXX.	Class XX.	Class X.	Class I.	Class II.	Class III.	Class IV.	Class V.	Class VI.
	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.	M. s. c.
1885-86 ...	515 0 6½	2,082 11 1	5,206 38 6	9,836 29 10	14,302 16 13	13,669 23 9½	9,433 39 3	5,590 35 8	3,181 17 8
1886-87 ...	270 31 13	2,709 35 11½	9,641 5 8	16,387 15 12	15,890 2 10½	8,571 8 6½	3,040 24 8	702 30 12	159 6 15

The following remarks of the Officiating Opium Agent are commended to the attention of officers of the department as indicating what improvement can be effected by attention to the quality of the opium produced:—

"The greatest improvement has taken place in Basti where, owing to Mr. Luard's successful administration, the quality of opium sent up this year has been better than in any previous year, and it may be hoped that Basti, so long notorious for the poor quality of its opium, has now finally emerged from the list of divisions which habitually send up opium of indifferent quality. The history of this division and of its neighbour, Gorakhpur, shows what care and knowledge can achieve. In former days Gorakhpur was distinctly below the average of the Agency; it now stands facile princeps in the quality of its opium. Indeed, as the great bulk of it is of a higher consistence than the provision standard of this Agency, it seems to be worthy of consideration whether the Gorakhpur opium, which comes to Ghazipur vid Bankipur, should not be sent direct to Patna."

The general quality of the opium sent up for manufacture is not discussed in the Behar report—an omission which may with advantage be supplied in future years. It appears, however, that unusual strictness was exercised in assaying opium at the factory.

Balances.

4 The outstanding balances amount to Rs. 16,435, a sum which must be considered small as compared with the magnitude of the advances made, which exceed two hundred lakhs of rupees a year. The success of Opium Officers in effecting realizations deserves commendation, and compares favourably with the results obtained in other branches of the administration. But there are some exceptions to the good results generally obtained in this respect, and further explanation is required of the statement that "the heavy balance in Tirhoot, aggregating Rs. 9,635-9-1, has not been recovered owing to a misunderstanding of Mr. D'Oyly's orders by the Sub-Deputy Opium Agent, and may be irrecoverable."

Breaches of Opium Laws.

5. There were 1,134 prosecutions under the opium laws during the year, against 1,265 in 1885-86 and 1,928 in 1884-85. The falling off has been in the Behar Agency, where new rules were introduced under the orders of Government to prevent malicious or frivolous accusations. Three important cases of smuggling from Nepal were detected. The subject received special attention in the Benares Agency, and the remarks of Mr Cadell, who has had very exceptional opportunities for observation, will doubtless receive the careful consideration of the Board. He observes—

"The most notable instance of restriction round large towns is the closing of poppy cultivation in the outskirts of Lucknow. The Commission has expressed the opinion that this measure was 'an unnecessary step,' but the effect of it on the consumption of licit opium has been unquestionable, for the sales have increased from less than 40 maunds in 1876-77 to more than 124 maunds in 1885-86; and where the average outturn is insufficient, there can be little question that cultivation near large cities should be closed at once, and further measures in the same direction have been taken during the year under report in the neighbourhood of Benares, Cawnpur, and Moradabad, while the abandonment of poppy cultivation in the Muttra district and in the neighbourhood of Agra has necessarily rendered smuggling into these towns more difficult than before. And even where the outturn was good, as it unquestionably was round Lucknow, there seems to be no advantage in maintaining it when land yielding an equally good outturn can be got elsewhere.

"A very satisfactory proof that the evil of smuggling is largely restricted in these provinces is furnished by the substantial revenue from opium excise obtained in the revenue divisions, which are worst in this respect, when compared with that of Patna—the only division in the Lower Provinces with which, for obvious reasons, comparison is possible:—

ISION.	Total population.	Mahomedan population.	Licit opium consumed.	Total excise revenue from opium.
			Mds. s. c.	Rs. a. p.
Benares	9,820,728	1,056,351	232 31 0	1,48,976 0 0
Faizabad ...	3,2 0,393	436,337	35 33 0	22,928 0 0
Rai Barielly	2,756,864	262,886	19 39 0	12,784 0 0

			Mds. s. c.	Rs.
"Patna ...	15,063,944	1,730,093	69 2 8	44,200

"If the excise revenue in Patna could be raised to the same standard which has been achieved in the worst divisions of these provinces, an increase of Rs. 1,00,000 to the excise revenue would be obtained, and it is probable that this measure could be got without any injury to the opium administration."

6. That considerable loss accrues to the revenue from the practice of licensed cultivators, whose number always exceeds a million, keeping back a small portion of their produce for domestic consumption or illicit sale, has always been admitted, and is indeed proved by the inadequate excise income obtained in the producing districts. It seems almost certain that this form of smuggling must be more prevalent near great towns, and that some gain would therefore accrue from restricting cultivation in such areas. When circumstances permit the Agent to select the places in which opium should be grown, there would, therefore, appear to be a reason for excluding urban tracts, and the counterbalancing disadvantages of adopting such a rule, if any exist, are not apparent. On this subject the Board will be requested to make a separate report.

7. The question of altering the form in which engagements are made with cultivators in order to obviate an objection which has been taken to their validity has been considered since the close of the year at a conference of Opium Officers, and orders will soon be passed upon the subject by Government.

Conduct of officers.

8. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to the Board and to the Opium Agents for their efficient administration of the department during the year. The death of Dr. Whitwell, whose valuable services were commended in the Resolution of 1885-86, is recorded with regret. The favourable remarks of the Board and of the Agents as to the conduct of several officers subordinate to them are noticed by Sir Steuart Bayley with pleasure, and will be communicated to the Appointment Department. The work done by Surgeon-Major Weir, Messrs. Tytler, Drake, Luard, and Hobson was of special value.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

CALCUTTA the 3rd April 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 30TH MARCH 1888.

At the commencement of the week pressure was very low and considerably below the average of the period in Bengal. Strong westerly winds were blowing across Behar into West Bengal, and unusually strong winds across the Bengal coast into Orissa, South and East Bengal. Pressure began to increase on the 25th, on which day the dry hot winds blowing across Behar gave very high temperatures in West Bengal. Pressure steadily increased until the 29th, when it was from one-sixth to a quarter of an inch higher than on the 24th. With the rise of the barometer the winds in Behar decreased in strength, and the day temperatures in Western Bengal as well as in South Behar decreased several degrees. On the 27th and 28th a few local thunder-showers occurred at several stations in East and North Bengal. The amounts of rain registered were very small, and the slight disturbance which gave rise to these thunder-storms apparently passed away on the evening of the 28th. At this time an unusually rapid rise of the barometer was in progress in Upper India. This caused on the 28th a very considerable and rapid extension of the westerly winds across Behar into Central and North Bengal as far east as Jessore, Rampore Beauleah, Bogra, Serajgunj and Dinagepore. These dry winds gave unusually low humidities to Central Bengal on the 28th and morning of the 29th, after which they retreated, and were replaced by the usual damp southerly winds of the season. The barometer began to fall on the 30th, on which day (the last of the week) fine settled weather with clear skies prevailed over the whole province.

Pressure.—As stated above, the barometer rose steadily and continuously from the 23rd to the 29th, when the return downward movement commenced. The rise varied from ·15″ to ·25″ in amount, and was greatest in North Bengal and Behar. Pressure was so low at the commencement of the week that, notwithstanding the large rise, the mean pressure for the week was below the average over the greater part of the province. The deficiency for the week was ·025″ in amount in South-West Bengal, ·02″ in North Bengal and Behar, and ·01″ in Orissa.

The mean pressure of the week was almost identical with the average of the period in East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur.

Temperature.—The conditions at the beginning of the week gave very high day temperatures to Behar, South-West and Central Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur. This culminated on the 25th, when the highest temperatures of the week and month were observed. The following are amongst the most remarkable :—

	Maximum temperature during week.
Midnapore	107·3°	on the 25th.
Bankoora	106·1°	ditto.
Raneegunge	105·8°	ditto.
Chyebassa	104·8°	ditto.
Burdwan	104·7°	ditto.
Gya	103·0°	ditto.
Jessore	103·3°	ditto.

The temperature fell considerably on the 26th and varied from day to day during the remainder of the week within moderate limits.

The mean temperature of the week was above the average for all divisions except North Behar. The excess averaged 3·2° for East Bengal, 2·6° for South-West Bengal, 2° for Chutia Nagpur, and 1·7° for South Behar and Orissa.

Humidity.—The air has been drier than usual in Behar and Chutia Nagpur during the week. The only remarkable feature in this element of observation during the week was the very large and sudden decrease of humidity in West and Central Bengal on the morning of the 28th, caused by the extension of westerly dry winds into that area. No change occurred in Behar, where the air was on the whole slightly damper than on the 27th. The following examples will illustrate the magnitude of the change :—

	Humidity at 10 A.M.		Decrease in 24 hours.
	27th March.	28th March.

Serajgunj	72	36	36
Rampore Beauleah	67	21	46
Maldah	50	19	31
Dinagepore	42	22	20

The humidity increased with almost equal rapidity in Bengal on the afternoon of the 29th and morning of the 30th.

Rain.—A few light local showers of little importance fell on the 23rd in the Darjeeling Hills, and on the 27th and 28th in some districts of East and North Bengal. The amounts registered were in all cases small, and averaged less than a tenth of an inch for these meteorological divisions.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 30th of March 1888 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans [illegible] cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

VI.—When any vessel has been placed in quarantine as aforesaid, the Health Officer may direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from illness, and whose services may not be required on board the vessel, to such particular spots as may from time to time be selected by the Resident as places of quarantine, there to remain for a period of seven days. If a case of cholera occurs among such passengers and crew during any such period, they shall remain in a place of quarantine for a period of fifteen days from the date of the occurrence of the last case of such illness.

Such supplies will be placed on the boats of the vessels in quarantine to be subsequently removed by members of their crews.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was introduced and read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, and referred to a Select Committee, on the 7th April, 1888, and is hereby published for information :—

A Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Bengal Act III of 1884 : It is hereby enacted as follows :— Preamble

1. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, Bengal Act III of 1884 ; and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General. Construction and commencement of Act.

2. To section 9, the following proviso shall be added :—

"Provided that the Local Government may, at any time, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, exclude from the limits of any municipality any lands or buildings in the occupation of Government for Military or Naval purposes." Exclusion of lands or buildings in occupation of Government for Military or Naval purposes.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

UNDER sections 190 and 191 of Act III of 1884, the Bengal Municipal Act, the Commissioners of a Municipality have power to inspect all drains, and, after notice, to enter upon all premises for this purpose. The Commissioners of a Municipality claimed to exercise this right in regard to a Government Gunpowder Factory. It was held that the exercise of the right in such a case would be dangerous, and it was proposed to exclude the Gunpowder Factory premises from the limits of the Municipality. Under section 9 of the Act the Local Government has power to alter the limits of a Municipality, only on the recommendation of the Commissioners at a meeting, and in this instance the Commissioners declined to make the recommendation. It is considered desirable that Government should have the power of excluding of its own motion from the operation of Municipal Regulations, lands and buildings in the occupation of the State for Military and Naval purposes and the object of this Bill is to amend section 9 of the Act accordingly.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF MARCH 1888.

THE transition from the cold-weather conditions to those of the hot season in Bengal, which usually commences at the close of February, becomes complete in March. The normal features of the meteorology of March are therefore rapidly increasing temperature, gradually decreasing pressure, a general increase in the air motion, winds becoming westerly at the inland stations and south-westerly at the southern stations, while the northerly component in the wind directions almost disappears except in Behar; the air is also generally very dry, skies are clear, and there is an almost complete absence of rain, unless the normal weather conditions are disturbed by the occurrence of the local storms known as nor'-westers. These storms are believed to be brought about by the interaction of the more or less opposing wind systems which obtain to a certain extent over Bengal in this month, for at the western stations, winds are strongly westerly, at the southern stations strong moist southerly winds usually blow, while easterly winds continue to blow down the Assam Valley, and sometimes penetrate as far as Purneah and Durbhunga. From the nature of the formation of these nor'-westers and their local character, the rainfall brought by them, which is sometimes decidedly heavy, is very irregularly distributed. Occasionally also the normal conditions in March are disturbed by the formation of depressions over Northern India, which extend and travel in a south-easterly direction, and give unsettled weather and perhaps rain to Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and North Bengal, but these barometric depressions are usually less numerous and less influential in character than they are in the previous cold-weather months.

By these irregular actions a moderate amount of rain is brought to Bengal during March. The normal rainfall is heaviest in East Bengal, where it averages about 2 8 inches. In South-West Bengal, North Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and Orissa the fall ranges from about one to one and a half inches, while in Behar it is rather less than half an inch.

Meteorology of the month.—The chief features in the meteorology of March 1888 have been—

1. A mean pressure over the whole province which has been almost absolutely normal, though the western stations in the province have shown very slight defects while the other stations show corresponding excess pressures. The mean pressure of the whole of Bengal has not varied from the normal by more than about two thousandths of an inch, while in Assam there has been a defect of about six thousandths of an inch only.
2. The average temperature of the whole province has been 0·8° in excess of the normal, the largest excess being confined to the districts Chutia Nagpur, South Behar and South-West Bengal, where it has varied from about two to one and a half degrees.
3. Humidity has been below the normal at almost all stations, the general defect being equal to about 4 per cent.
4. Cloud proportion has been also slightly smaller than usual over the greater part of the province.
5. Two slight periods of disturbance have occurred, the first accompanying the movement of a very feeble area of low pressure over Bengal, and which gave rise to local rain with storms on about the 9th and 10th, and the second period of disturbance, during which nor' westers were numerous, lasting from the 12th to the 15th, and which latter series gave even a larger amount of rain than the first, the rainfall during the second period being particularly heavy in parts of the East, South-West, and North Bengal districts.
6. Rainfall for the month has been decidedly above the normal in East and North Bengal, and in North Behar; it has been about half to two thirds the normal in Orissa and South-West Bengal, while rainfall has been almost absent in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. In Assam decidedly heavy rain has been received during the month.

The weather conditions call for no particular comment during the early part of the month up till about the 7th, when a slight but distinct low pressure area was formed over West Bengal. On the 8th the feeble depression over Bengal was clearly marked, and in the wind directions over Northern India a general indraught was noticed towards the depression, while on the 9th there was a distinct tendency to a cyclonic circulation of winds over Bengal. The formation of this depression caused numerous showers, frequently accompanying local storms on the 8th and 9th in South-West, East, and North Bengal and Orissa, but the rainfal was heaviest in South-West Bengal. Rainfall then to a certain extent ceased, but still the barometer was low and below its normal height, and it was also irregular in its movements. There was also a tendency to a slight but distinctly marked depression in North and Central Bengal. The barometric changes of the 10th brought this into greater prominence on the 11th, and a strong inrush of southerly winds set in over South Bengal into the area of low pressure. Thunderstorms occurred on the 10th and 11th in North and East Bengal and the eastern districts of South-West Bengal, and some very heavy showers fell, more especially in the Dacca, Rungpore, and Julpigoree districts. A very rapid rise of the barometer occurred on the 12th, but it fell again rapidly on the 13th. Strong southerly winds continued to blow on the 12th and 13th, notwithstanding the rapid barometric changes, and a second series of thunderstorms occurred on the 13th and 14th which were more general, and gave a larger amount of rain than the first series. They extended over East and North Bengal, and nearly the whole of South-West Bengal and North Behar. The rainfall during this series of storms was especially heavy in the Dacca, Furreedpore, Nuddea, Jessore, Mymensingh, Julpigoree and Cooch Behar districts. The barometer continued to move irregularly but slightly for some days longer, but the southerly winds fell off in strength on the 15th and 16th, and the weather became somewhat less unsettled. Conditions then became fairly normal, with rather strong westerly winds blowing across Behar into Bengal and rather strong winds across the Bengal coast into Orissa, South and East Bengal, and with increasing pressure. A few local showers again occurred at several stations in East and North Bengal on the 27th and 28th, but the amounts of rain registered were small. At this time an unusually rapid rise of the barometer was in progress in Upper India, which caused a very rapid and considerable extension of westerly winds across Behar into Central and North Bengal, as far east as Dinagepore, Serajgunge, and Jessore, and which gave unusually low humidities to those districts for two days, but after this time the westerly winds retreated and were replaced by moist southerly winds. From this time to the end of the month there was no change of importance to record.

Pressure—At the commencement of the month was slightly above the normal, but with the setting in of the disturbed conditions, the pressure oscillations became large, and in some cases the changes were as large as one and two-tenths of an inch. The average pressure of the province, however, for the first-half of the month was distinctly but only slightly above the normal, though in different districts the variations were much larger, decidedly deficient pressure being recorded in West and South-West Bengal. For the third week in the month the general pressure was again slightly in excess of the normal, but during the last week, over the greater part of the province, pressure was decidedly below the normal, the deficiency equalling 0·025 inch in South-West Bengal, 0·02 inch in North Bengal, and 0·01 inch in Orissa The mean pressure of the province for the whole month has therefore been almost normal, and the average variation is not larger than about two thousandths of an inch. In the west of the province as represented by such stations as Calcutta, Burdwan, and Gya pressure has been distinctly below the normal, but at the eastern and northern stations pressure has been in excess, and the excess is very noticeable in the higher strata of the atmosphere, the largest excess being 0·021 inch at Darjeeling. In Assam pressure was in slight excess at Sibsagar, while it has been in defect at Dhubri and Silchar, the defect equalling 0·018 inch at the latter station.

Temperature.—There has been a steady and in some districts a rather rapid rise of temperature during almost the whole of the month, the rise being most rapid in such districts as South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Comparing the average mean temperatures of each of the large meteorological districts of the province for the week ending 2nd March with those of the week ending 30th March, it is found that in South Behar there has been a rise of 11·2° in the mean temperature in the month, in Chutia Nagpur the rise has been 10·3°, in East and North Bengal it has been between 9° and 10°, in North Behar the mean temperature has risen 8·6°, in Orissa 6·4°, and in South-West Bengal 5·1°. There has therefore been an increase in the mean temperature of the province of 8·7° during the month. Comparing the average temperatures of the whole province with the normal for the month, the actual has been in excess by 0·8°, but in Chutia Nagpur the excess is no less than 2·1°.

Some particularly high maximum temperatures were recorded towards the close of the month, the hottest day being the 25th, and on this day the maximum temperature at Midnapore was 107·3°, at Bankoora 106·1° and at Ranegunge 105·8° while temperature of from 103° to 105° were recorded at Chyebassa, Burdwan, Gya, and Jessore.

The following table gives a comparative statement of the temperature variations for the four weeks of March at nine typical stations:—

*Heavy rain.

Rainfall.—The periods of rainfall during the month have already been referred to under the general summary, and it only remains to state the amounts and the distribution. The heaviest falls have occurred in the districts of East Bengal, which have received an average amount of 3·35 inches, which is about 20 per cent. larger than the normal fall, North Bengal has received an average rainfall of 1·47 inches, which is also rather more than 20 per cent. in excess of the normal, while North Behar has received an average fall of 0·50 inch or about 30 per cent. in excess of the usual amount. In all other districts the falls have been below the normal. South-West Bengal has received an average amount of 1·01 inches or only two-thirds of the normal fall. In Orissa an average amount of 0·48 inch of rain has been recorded, which is, however, only a little over 40 per cent. of the normal fall, while in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur the falls have been so small in amount that they only average a few hundredths of an inch.

Taking up the rainfall rather more in detail, in Orissa the Pooree district has been almost rainless, while the Cuttack and Balasore districts have received moderate amounts of rain. In South-West Bengal the districts which have received very little rain are South-West Midnapore and South 24-Pergunnahs, and Bankoorah, while Midnapore, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah, Hooghly, Burdwan, Beerbhoom, Moorshedabad, Jessore, and Khoolna districts have received moderate amounts, and Nuddea has received a fall in excess of the normal. In East Bengal, Noakholly, Furreedpore, Dacca, and Commillah districts have received decidedly heavy rain, considerably larger than the normal; Mymensingh has received a fall about equal to the normal, and Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts, and Backergunge falls below the normal. In North Bengal, Darjeeling, Cooch Behar, Julpigoree, Rungpore, Rajshahye, and Pubna districts have received falls above the normal; Dinagepore a fall equal to the normal, and Bogra a fall decidedly below it. In North Behar the only districts which have received moderate rain are Purneah, North Bhagulpore and Durbhunga, while all the remaining districts in Behar and Chutia Nagpur, except the Sonthal Pergunnahs, have received very small amounts of rain, or in the case of Patna, South Bhagulpore, Monghyr, and Chyebassa districts no rain at all.

In Assam heavy rain has been received, and at Silchar during the month no less than 8·93 inches were received; at Sibsagar 6·41 inches were also recorded, while at Dhubri the fall was smaller and only equalled 2·78 inches.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1·0° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

CALCUTTA, the 10th April 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 6TH APRIL 1888.

THE meteorological conditions and changes in Bengal during the past week call for little or no comment. Over the greater part of the Province weather has been of the normal hot weather character; dry westerly and south-westerly winds have generally obtained, temperature has been very high, while pressure has oscillated in the usual manner, and there has, at the great majority of stations, been a complete absence of rain, though, in a few instances, owing to slightly disturbed conditions, local storms occurred on one or two days. On the 31st March and 1st April a few small storms gave rain to some of the stations in North Bengal, close to the hills, and to the Mymensingh and Tipperah districts in East Bengal. These were probably connected with disturbed conditions over Assam and Cachar, for a slight barometric depression was reported over this area, which gave rise to moderate rain. Again, on the 3rd and 4th, a few showers were reported in Orissa and at some stations in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, but the amounts were generally small. These latter unsettled conditions were apparently connected with a rather rapid fall of pressure which took place over South Bengal at this time. With these exceptions, fine settled weather has obtained throughout the week.

Pressure.—A rather rapid fall of pressure took place on 31st March, on which day slightly disturbed conditions existed over East and North Bengal. On the 1st April, however, an almost equal rise of pressure took place, but this was followed by a fall which lasted for three days, and on the 4th instant the fall was decidedly rapid. Disturbed conditions again set in with the falling pressure, but on the 5th and 6th pressure rose steadily and again weather became settled. During the greater part of the week, therefore, pressure has been falling, and the average pressure for the period has been decidedly below the normal, the mean for the whole week for the Province being 0·045 inch in defect. The defect has been fairly equally distributed over the whole Province.

Temperature—Has again been very high almost throughout the week, and maximum temperatures in excess of 100° have been reported on one or more days at no less than 21 out of the 39 reporting stations in the plains. The following very high maximum temperatures have been registered:—

At Chyebassa,	on the	3rd	April	...	107·9°
,, Raneegunge	,,	3rd	,,	...	106·5°
,, Bankoorah	,,	3rd	,,	...	106·1°
,, Midnapore	,,	6th	,,	...	105·4°
,, Dehree	,,	2nd	,,	...	105·2°
,, Burdwan	,,	4th	,,	...	104·6°

The mean temperature for the week has consequently been above the normal in all districts, and the general temperature for the whole Province shows an excess of no less than two degrees, while in Chutia Nagpur the excess equals the large amount of 3·3°.

The actual temperatures recorded and their variation from the normal are clearly seen in the following table where the temperature data at eight typical stations in the Province are given:—

Rainfall.—The only meteorological divisions which have received an average rainfall exceeding a tenth of an inch are Orissa and East Bengal. South-West and North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur have received very small falls, but so small as to be of little importance, while Behar has been practically, if not absolutely, rainless. The largest rainfall has been received in the Comillah district, the stations in which average rather more than half an inch, while in the Balasore, Julpigoree, and Cooch Behar districts the falls average from a quarter to half an inch of rain.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 6th of April 1888 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

FROM the annexed table exhibiting the mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal (excluding Hariharganj outpost in Lohardugga, from which no return has yet been received) for the month of January 1888, it appears—

1. That the deaths of 138,749 persons were registered among a population of 66,163,884, or at the rate of 25·08 per 1,000 per annum, against 26·28 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 26·88 per 1,000 in the corresponding month of the past year, indicating, as compared with both the periods, a retrogression in the number of deaths recorded.

2. That the undermentioned districts furnished the highest proportions of deaths :—

Districts.	Ratio per mille.	Districts.	Ratio per mille.
Dinajpur	42·72	Nuddea	31·80

3. That the mortality from the specific diseases mentioned in the appended table is shown below. The figures indicate that cholera prevailed with considerably less fatality during the month under notice as compared with the corresponding month of the preceding year, and that the fatal results from the rest of the diseases exhibited only fractional variations, excepting injury, which maintained the same death-rate :—

4. That the following districts returned conspicuously high mortality from cholera and fever, and that no districts exhibited any noticeable high death-rate from the other diseases mentioned in the foregoing table, excepting in Puri, where 20·88 per 1,000 of the population died from the diseases coming under the head of "Other causes" :—

A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the omissions being of a permanent character. The number of the natives as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The rates have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the rates under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

CIVIL LEAVE CODE.

APPENDIX A.

Substitute the following for clause (13) of the Form of Last-Pay Certificate on this page :—

(13) The Secretary of State recovers subscriptions on account of the different Civil Funds from subscribers absent from India on leave who draw their leave allowances in England, who either are required by the Rules of their Fund to pay their subscriptions in that country during leave, or elect to do so. Particulars of the Fund deductions to be made from the absentee allowances of officers on leave drawing their leave allowances in England should be noted on the Last-Pay Certificates; and where a subscriber elects to make payments of his subscriptions in India while on leave, or to postpone such payments until his return to India, the fact should also be noted on the Last-Pay Certificate. The rules under which the deductions are made, and the method by which they are calculated in the cases of the different Funds, will be found in Appendix B (a) of the Civil Leave Code.

Insert the following as Appendix B (a) of the Civil Leave Code :—

The recovery of subscriptions due on the absentee allowances of subscribers to the Bengal, Madras, and Bombay Civil Funds, and to the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Fund, is made under the following Rules :—

1. If the officer is on leave out of India and draws his allowances in England, recovery will be made at the Home Treasury by deductions from his absentee allowances, unless he is a member of the Bengal or Madras Civil Fund, and has exercised the option allowed to members of those Funds of postponing the payment of his subscriptions until after return to duty.

[NOTE.—The option allowed to subscribers to the Bengal Fund of postponing payment of subscriptions on absentee allowances is limited to a period of one year.]

2. For payment of leave allowances in any of Her Majesty's Colonies, warrants will be issued only on condition that the subscriptions shall be either paid in advance or taken by deduction; in the latter case the warrant to the Colony should show only the net allowance payable after such deduction.

3. The rates of subscription are as follow :—

A.—Bengal Civil Fund.

		Rs.	A.
	Civil Fund ordinary	2	8	per centum of the total leave allowance.
Additions	Wife	2	0	ditto	ditto	ditto.
	Sons, each	0	2	ditto	ditto	ditto.
	Daughters, each	0	4	ditto	ditto	ditto.

Widowers' subscriptions are the subscription to the ordinary branch and double rates for children. The subscriptions should be calculated on the rupee entry of the absentee allowance in the officer's Last-Pay Certificate; but in no case is subscription calculated on a smaller leave allowance than Rs. 416-10-8, or on a higher allowance than Rs. 833-5-4 a month. Payments made in England are converted into sterling at the rate of 2 shillings the rupee. If the officer is entitled to no absentee allowance, his contributions should be calculated as if he were in receipt of the subsistence allowance noted below :—

Rs. 250 a month—for an officer of not more than eight years' actual residence in India.
Rs. 320 a month—for an officer of more than eight but less than twelve years' actual residence in India.
Rs. 400 a month—for an officer of twelve or more years' actual residence in India.

B.—Madras Civil Fund.

During the first sixteen years' service in all cases ... Rs. 2½ per cent.

At the same rate during the whole further service in the case of married men or widowers with families. In the case of unmarried subscribers and widowers without families, the rate is reduced to 1 per cent. after sixteen years' service, to be raised to the higher rate of 2½ per cent. on the remarriage of the subscriber.

The subscriptions to be paid on absentee allowance are reckoned on the rupee entry in the Last-Pay Certificate ; but in no case is subscription calculated on a smaller leave allowance than Rs. 416-10-8, or on a higher leave allowance than Rs. 833⅓.

In the cases of subscribers in England who are not in receipt of any absentee allowances, and who are allowed by the Rules of the Fund to make payments in order to retain their interest in the Fund, the allowance on which the rates are calculated is the allowance from Government last drawn when on furlough or sick leave.

Payments made in England are converted into sterling at the rate of two shillings or one shilling and nine pence the rupee, according as the subscription is paid to the 8 per cent. or 4 per cent. Capital of the Fund.

C.—Bombay Civil Fund.

	Rs.
Married members	3 per cent.
Widowers or unmarried members	2 ,,

For daughters (if upon the Fund)—2 annas or 4 annas per cent.
For sons (if upon the Fund)—2 annas per cent.

A member on furlough and in receipt of an absentee allowance exceeding £500 a year contributes at the rates shown above on the amount in excess of £500 a year. Any member drawing no allowance, or drawing furlough or subsistence allowance of £500 a year or less, is not required to contribute.

Payments of subscriptions in England are converted into sterling money at the rate of exchange annually fixed for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments.

D.—Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations.

(These rates shew the monthly contribution and are subject to alteration, from time to time, by the Secretary of State.)

NEW MEMBER.

The Hon. Mr. Pratt took his seat in Council.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that the final Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison also moved that the clauses of the Bill, as further amended, be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—We have already considered the first 36 sections of the Bill, and therefore I move that we begin with section 37. The first amendment on the list of business belongs to the chapter of definitions, and will naturally come on for discussion when that chapter is considered. As we have only to-day seen the exact line which the Hon. Member wishes to take, we shall be able to consider it at another meeting.

His Honour the President said:—The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee may explain to-day what his motion is, and we may postpone the discussion to another day.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee said:—The amendment of which I have given notice regarding the definition of "Calcutta" differs only in one respect from definition No. 7 in the Bill. It excludes from the Suburban area which the definition in the Bill proposes to include only a portion on the south side, namely the portion bounded on the north by the line of roads commencing from the east with the Tiljullah Road, and going along the Ballygunge Circular Road, the Puddopookur Road, the Pakoortollah Road, and the Chaoollputty Road, till it comes to a point where Tolly's Nullah turns south; and the portion excluded in my amendment has, for its western boundary, Tolly's Nullah. This is how it appears on the map. The line marked blue is the northern boundary of the portion I propose to exclude; and the other line, which is Tolly's Nullah, is the western boundary. The parts of the portion excluded, which are in the immediate vicinity of the northern and western boundaries, are, it is true, populous; but as we proceed further on towards the south from the northern boundary and towards the east from the western boundary, we come to places which are scarcely suburban, and which are of a rural character, and may safely be excluded from the operation of the Bill. I have no objection to postpone the discussion of the question now, but in that case I will ask permission to come back to any part of the Bill which may involve any question as to the extent of area involved, if such part is disposed of before the question of the definition is finally settled. I do not however think there is any important part of the Bill, which will render this necessary, now that we have disposed of the question of the number of wards.

The Hon. Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar said:—I have to request that maps showing the proposed boundaries be circulated to the members; otherwise it will be impossible to come to any definite conclusion as to what the boundaries should be. This is what I have been insisting upon from the beginning, as I have not been able to procure a map which gives the correct boundaries in the plan.

His Honour the President said:—I think that the map which the hon. mover of the amendment has will show very distinctly what he proposes. I do not wish to postpone the discussion till the end of the Bill, but I thought that if the hon. member explained to-day what he proposes, we may give ourselves till the next meeting to consider his proposals after having seen his map, instead of merely trying to follow the printed description of the boundaries. I think we might be able to meet the hon. gentleman to a certain extent. The portion of country which he wishes to exclude is no doubt distinctly of a rural character, but I should have preferred if he took the Bhowanipore and Kallighat road as the western boundary, instead of the Tollygunge road, because the part of country between them is distinctly of an urban character, and very thickly populated. If we could come to an agreement on these lines, I shall be glad to try to meet him We can discuss the matter at our next meeting after the hon. gentleman has seen on the map the boundaries which the hon. mover of the amendment proposes to prescribe.

The further discussion of the amendment was postponed on this understanding.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter moved that (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j) and (k) of clause 5 and clause (6) of section 37 be omitted. He said:—When this Bill was before the Council on the last occasion, the section which is now No. 37 was then section 30, and in the latter certain matters only were included as the duties of the Corporation. Take for instance the naming of streets and the numbering of premises. If general default is made by the Commissioners in the numbering of streets, they are to be superseded. I do not think it was ever intended that such should be the case, nor is it very likely to happen. The construction and maintenance of public latrines, urinals, and other public conveniences. These matters depend very much upon the funds at the disposal of the Commissioners as to the extent to which they may be in a position to carry out such works; but if these are put in the section as duties to be performed by the Commissioners, they would have to be performed irrespective of the question whether funds are available or not. The section which has already been passed (section 36) declares the purposes to which the Municipal Fund may be applied, and I think that should be sufficient, leaving it to the discretion of the Commissioners to carry out those objects as far as might be practicable. Then, with regard to the watering and lighting of streets. The whole of the town at the present moment has not been lighted. It would depend very much on the state of the funds as to what parts can be lighted and what cannot be lighted; and therefore it is essentially necessary to leave it as a matter of discretion as at present and not to convert it into a duty. Then, again, as regards the abatement of nuisances. There is a section of the Bill (section 389) which shows that the Commissioners have to be satisfied that there is real necessity for taking up a case before they can be called upon to take it up. But if it is to be a duty, then as soon as a complaint is made they will have to take it up as a duty; there is no discretion left. Under these circumstances, I move that the clauses which I have mentioned be omitted from section 37. I wish it to be distinctly understood that I do not for a moment mean that by the exclusion of these clauses, I intend that the Commissioners are not to give these matters their very best consideration; but having regard to the large area to be included in the town it is very difficult to foresee what the Commissioners will be able to do.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—I wish to ask whether it will be possible to consider amendments Nos. (2) to (5) together, voting upon them of course separately, because the Hon. Member who has just moved amendment No. (2) has admitted that the objection does not lie to the clause itself, but only when it is read with section 38. It seems to me that substantially the question involved by amendments Nos. (2) to (5) is an alteration in the framework of section 37 as read with section 38. I think it would shorten and simplify our procedure if these amendments are all considered together. Suppose section 38 were altered. Suppose we omit the clauses of section 37 mentioned in amendment No. (2), and the Hon. Member then suggests a very different control section, the position of Hon. Members will be a a very difficult one. It will therefore be far more convenient if the whole of these amendments are treated as involving one large question.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said:—I agree with my hon. colleague that it will be very desirable to discuss all these amendments together. If I succeed in having section 38 substantially altered, the objection to section 37 will be very much minimised. I have therefore not the slightest objection to the course proposed.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT on that understanding asked the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter to proceed with his next amendment No. (5).

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—My objection to section 38 of the Bill is this, that when the Act of 1876 was under consideration a similar objection was taken by various public bodies, and thereupon this and some other sections of the Bill were referred back to the Select Committee for further consideration. After a good deal of discussion, after hearing delegates and counsel on behalf of several public bodies, the section which stands in the Act was adopted, and the then Lieutenant-Governor expressed his fullest concurrence in the alteration made by the Select Committee. When the present Bill was laid before the Select Committee in the first instance no change was proposed in the section. It was only at the very last moment that the Hon. Mr. Macaulay thought fit to produce the present section 38 in lieu of the section in Act IV of 1876. The reason assigned by him was, that the provision as it stands in the Act is cumbrous and unworkable. As far as it is cumbrous and unworkable, no doubt it will be necessary to remodel it; but I do not think that because it is cumbrous and unworkable, therefore the law should be materially altered so as to give uncontrolled power in the hands of the Local Government. The powers under the present law are these. In the first place the power is to be exercised only in a few cases, that is in cases where adequate provision is not made for the conservancy and cleaning of the town so as not to secure its healthiness. In the second place if the Commissioners failed to take steps to improve the bustees of Calcutta, and thus to secure the healthiness of the town, then the law authorises the Local Government to step in. But before the Commissioners can be superseded in any way, the present law provides as the most important matter that there should be an independent enquiry, and unless in the course of that enquiry it appears that default has been made within the terms of the law, the Commissioners cannot in any way be superseded. This safeguard does not appear in section 38 of the present Bill. I was told in the Select Committee that due enquiry would mean after hearing the Commissioners. If that is so, why should it not be stated in the law that, before this power is exercised, the Commissioners shall be heard? Again it was said that the wording of the present law makes the provision unworkable. I have, therefore, thought fit to alter the wording of the section, and I am confident that the section, as I have framed it, cannot be said to be unworkable. If there is complaint made, the Commissioners are to be heard, and if the Government is then satisfied that default has been made, there is to be a Commission appointed. The Sanitary Commissioner or any one acting for him is to be one of the arbitrators; the second arbitrator is to be appointed by the Commissioners, and the third by the Local Government; and these three arbitrators are, within a time to be fixed by the Local Government, to find whether any such default as has been complained of has been made. If they find that default has been made, then they are to state what, in their opinion, should be further required to be done in regard to such matter. After the Commission makes its report, the Local Government is entitled to call upon the Commissioners to carry out what the members of the Commission have awarded; and if they fail to do so, the Chairman of the Corporation is to supersede the Commissioners. That is how the section I have framed will practically work; it will substantially leave the law in the same position as at present. No outsider is to supersede the Commissioners; the supersession will be by the Chairman under the special authority of the Local Government, but this supersession would not take place until after a proper inquiry. It is said that such an enquiry will take time. No doubt it will take some time, but time should not be objected to in a matter of this kind. It is entirely in the hands of the Local Government to fix the time within which the report is to be submitted by the Commission. If the complaint is in respect of a matter of very urgent importance, which can be enquired into within two or three days, the Local Government might fix a very short time. If, on the other hand, it is a matter of a complicated nature in which there is no great urgency, the Local Government may fix a longer time for the members of the Commission to make enquiry and submit its report. Therefore, as far as the objection goes that the procedure is cumbrous and unworkable, I submit that the section framed by me will not be open to that objection. Then, again, I have limited the enquiry to one of the duties enumerated in clauses (3) and (4) and (a) and (b) of clause (5). These are the most important matters. Clause (3) refers to completing and extending the drainage works throughout Calcutta, and the opening out and improving of bustees, and to the expenditure annually of not less than two lakhs of rupees for these purposes. Clause (4) refers to the maintaining of a water-supply; and (a) and (b) of clause (5) to the cleaning and conservancy of Calcutta, and the maintenance and cleaning of drains and drainage works. These are the most important duties which the Commissioners have to perform. They have immediate reference to the health of the town, and in respect of which the Government should have a power of control. As regards clauses (1) and (2), they are so important and so essentially a part and parcel of the working of the Municipal Act that I have not thought it necessary to include them in section 38, because the payment of interest and the establishment of a sinking fund are the first duties of the Corporation. If the Commissioners can be trusted with the administration of the municipal affairs of the town, they should be trusted to make suitable provision for these purposes. I cannot conceive it possible that under any circumstances these duties would not be performed, but if it is thought desirable that they should be included, though the section will then need slight modification, I shall have no objection to offer. I have excluded them simply because they are primary duties, and it is not possible to conceive that under any circumstances these duties would be neglected.

Then as regards other matters, I submit that they are matters of detail which may be left to the Commissioners, subject to the control of public criticism and to the influence which the Press can bring to bear on the Commissioners. I put it to the Council and to Your Honor, whether or not it would be utterly absurd to supersede the Commissioner, because two or three streets had not been named. That, however, is how the section stands. While it is desirable that the Local Government should have this power in matters of vast importance, I think it is desirable that such power should be safeguarded, and the safeguard should be an enquiry by a Commission. The members of the Select Committee, in dealing with this subject, say in the first page of their report, chapter II:—

"Section 37 enumerates the duties of the Corporation. This section has been enlarged to include all that should be included as the duties of the Commissioners, and section 38 confers ample powers on the Local Government to compel the Corporation to discharge any of these duties should it neglect to do so. We could not recommend the re-enactment of the cumbrous and unworkable sections of the former law. On the other hand, the discretion and forbearance of the Government constitute the best guarantee which can be given to the Corporation against a hasty and injudicious use of this power. We have introduced an appeal as of right to the Government of India."

Though I look upon this right of appeal as a concession to my objections, yet I am not satisfied with the section as it has been framed by the Select Committee; and I think it is necessary that there should be material alterations made in it to show the public that since the passing of the Act in 1876 nothing has happened which would justify an alteration of the law on the subject. Within ten or eleven years it was only once that the Local Government thought fit to have recourse to this section. I do not wish, for obvious reasons, to enter into that discussion further than to show that all the recommendations of the Commission were altogether accepted by the Commissioners, and they gave effect to them so far as the Government requested them to do so, not putting their request under the provisions of the law, but appealing to the good sense of the Commissioners. I believe the hon. member in charge of the Bill will bear me out in saying that every one of those recommendations has been attended to. Suppose the law then stood as it is now proposed to make it, what would have been the consequence? I think the consequence would have been the supersession of the Commissioners, and then a grievous mistake would have been committed. As regards matters of vast importance, of course the Local Government should have a power of control; but while conceding this control there should be the safeguard of an independent enquiry. In 1876, and also upon the present occasion, it has been said that this power exists in England and in Bombay. As regards England, the cases are totally different. There the Government does not appoint a single Town Councillor, but all of them are elected by the rate-payers, and the Chairman is elected by themselves; so that in every sense local bodies there are wholly independent of Government control, and moreover all large municipalities, as far as I have been able to ascertain, are represented in Parliament, and that of itself is a safeguard against the capricious action of Government. I appeal to the Council and to Your Honour to say whether it is likely the town will suffer in the least by adopting the section I propose. If the town will not suffer, I think it will be an act of grace towards the Commissioners and the rate-payers not to alter the law so materially as is proposed. On this subject both the British Indian Association and the Indian Association have made representations. The British Indian Association in their letter says—

"The controlling power of the Government is proposed to be made more summary than at present. The exercise of such summary power would not only be inexpedient in the face of the very reasonable provision at present existing, but unjust to the Commissioners, who ought to be heard in their defence. The Local Government may, after considering such explanations as the Commissioners may offer, appoint a Commission, as in section 28 of the present Act. Such a Commission, if properly constituted, would form a proper bench to judge of the issues between the persons complaining of default by the Commissioners on the one hand, and the Commissioners on the other. After our experience of the last Commission, it is necessary that the Government should specify in detail the work or works neglected, and the exact amount of work to be done. The danger of a special officer, spending money without limit on any particular work, may so cripple the municipality as to lead to the neglect of more pressing work in other directions. The resources are not unlimited, and the expenditure should be regulated according to income."

And the representation of the Indian Association have also made similar observation. After comparing the provisions of the existing law with the section in the Bill, they say—

"It will be seen at once that the powers of control claimed under the new Bill are far more summary in their operation than what is provided for in the existing law. Under the present law, the Government cannot take any action except as the result of a public enquiry. Under the Bill no public enquiry need be made. If the Government is satisfied that default has been made—it does not matter by what process—the Municipality may at once be coerced to carry out the orders of Government. But the fact remains that the powers of control reserved to the Government by the existing law have been found by actual experience to be amply sufficient for all purposes."

With these observations I leave the matter in the hands of the Council. I think this is a matter which demands our earnest attention, and I hope that the Council will accept the amendment proposed by me.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Das Banerjee said:—I beg to move that in section 38, line 5, after the word "duties" the words "relating to public health" be inserted. I also move that in line 7 of the same section, after the word "enquiry" the words "by a Commission consisting of three persons, two of whom shall be appointed by the Local Government, and one by the Commissioners in meeting" be inserted. The object of these amendments is of a nature similar to that which my hon. colleague who has just sat down has in view in proposing his amendments. The only difference between his amendment and mine consists in this, that whereas he would revert to the old law with very slight modifications, my amendments take a middle course between the old law and the provision contained in the Bill. I fully admit the necessity of the Government having control, but I submit that this control, in the case of an important public body like the Calcutta Municipal Corporation, should be limited to extreme cases—to the cases of serious neglect of duty by the Corporation in relation to matters of public health. It is then only that the grave importance of the subject would justify the action of the Government. In other matters of minor importance, the Municipal Corporation could be safely trusted. But if the provisions of the law remain as they are in the Bill, the result will be that the Commissioners would be liable to be superseded on account of default in the discharge of every minor duty, such as the naming or the watering of streets. This would no doubt very prejudicially affect the independence of the Corporation, a result which is scarcely desirable. Then it should be borne in mind that the new Corporation, with their limited funds, and with the comprehensive and detailed scheme of duties laid down in section 37 of the Bill, would be constantly exposed to the risk of being proceeded against under this section unless its operation is limited in the way I suggest; and this danger will be all the greater when it is further borne in mind that the amalgamation of the large suburban area with the town will increase their responsibilities a great deal without providing them with adequate funds to discharge those responsibilities. Therefore, I submit, that the first of the two amendments I propose ought to be accepted by the Council.

Then as regards the second amendment, it is quite true, as the Select Committee observe in their report, that the discretion and forbearance of the Government constitute the best guarantee that can be afforded against any unnecessary or arbitrary exercise of the power; but, I submit that it is equally true, in the case of an important public body like the Calcutta Corporation, that their own good sense and the control of public opinion will be sufficient in all ordinary cases to induce them to perform their duties. And if it is thought necessary to guard against neglect of duty by the Corporation in important cases by legislative enactment, I submit it is at least desirable, if not necessary, to make some provision in the same law against any hasty or injudicious exercise of the power of control in any case. And this necessity will appear most clearly when it is remembered that the Corporation, with their limited funds and almost unlimited responsibility, will always have to choose between two evils. They will always be obliged to neglect, for a time at least, duties of a less urgent nature in order to discharge others of a more pressing character. With regard to a public body so circumstanced the duty of judging of their acts and omissions must necessarily be of a most difficult and delicate nature, and therefore I submit it is due as well to the Corporation as to the controlling authority itself to lay down rules and to make careful provision against any unfair or injudicious interference being made in any possible case. There are many cases in which the question involved will after all be a mere matter of difference of opinion; the Commissioners after exercising their judgment most carefully and anxiously may think one class of duties more important than another, whilst the Local Government may be inclined to take a different view. And the possibility of the Commissioners being able to discharge both duties together will depend on the state of their funds. An enquiry into these points can hardly be fairly conducted unless the Commissioners are represented by some one in the tribunal which is to judge. I therefore submit that the very least which ought to be done in this direction will be to have an enquiry by a Commission constituted as my amendment indicates. I earnestly hope that if the Council has any difficulty in accepting the larger proposition contained in the amendment of my hon. friend Babu Kali Nath Mitter, it, at any rate, will find no difficulty in accepting the smaller measure proposed in my amendment.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said—Although I am quite prepared to admit that the question is not without difficulties, I can hardly recommend the Council to accept the amendments moved by the Hon. Member on my left (Babu Kali Nath Mitter). As regards the fact that section 37 in its earlier form did not contain the clauses to which the Hon. Member has referred, I may mention that in the first instance the Government of India drew attention to the non-inclusion in the section of such provisions. In a letter, received from the Government of India last year, commenting on the draft Bill, they asked us to look into the corresponding sections in the Acts relating to Municipalities in other parts of India, and it is not possible to deny that the maintaining of a system of registration of births and deaths for instance, or the naming of streets and the numbering of houses are duties of the Municipality. Then, if it is the duty of the Municipality to do these things, ought they to be omitted from the section of the Bill, over the operation of which a power of control is given to the Government? I admit that for all practical purposes it will perhaps be sufficient if the power of control is confined to matters affecting the public health, because it is essentially in such matters that there will be a probability of difference of opinion. But as a question of principle, why should the other clauses of the section be excluded? The probability is that there will be no likelihood of default in such matters. But suppose the Commissioners were to commit default in respect of such matters. Suppose the Commissioners discontinued the maintenance of a system of registration of births and deaths. There are statistics of births and deaths extending over a series of years of extreme value to which constant reference is needed. Would it not then be necessary that the Government should have power to say to the Commissioners, you shall not discontinue those registers? Take another case. Take the naming of streets and the numbering of houses. Conceive the total confusion which would result from total neglect of this duty. Consider the total prostration of the Postal Department and of all inter-communication in Calcutta. Is there one single duty of the Commissioners regarding the performance of which it would be more incumbent on the Government to interfere than that supposing it neglected? As a question of principle I cannot see why we should take away the control of the Government over duties of this kind which, supposing they are not performed, will lead to disastrous results, simply because we think there will be no necessity for such control. The chances are a hundred to one that the Commissioners would not commit default in such matters; if so, no harm would be done, and the section would remain a dead letter. But suppose the Commissioners did commit general default, then there is no single matter amongst the duties of the Corporation control over which would more meet with the approval of the entire population, than some of the matters which I have instanced. I think the essence of the objection is that instead of the decision in such matters being vested in the Government it should be vested in a tribunal consisting of three persons, two of whom should be appointed by the Local Government and one by the Commissioners in meeting. That is a legacy from the Act of 1876, and the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter correctly described what happened then. The section was adopted as a compromise by way of concession to representations made by various public bodies, because they considered that the general power of control proposed to be given would prove fatal to the independence of the Commissioners. But I would ask the Council to consider whether that is not a fundamentally erroneous principle. It appears to me to be an erroneous principle incautiously and easily yielded by Sir Richard Temple to satisfy the objections raised by several public bodies. And now that the law is being amended, I am bound to say that in my opinion the Council will do wrong, unless it lays down most distinctly that the authority in all such matters rests with the Government. There is a great deal of difference between the Government interfering in matters concerning the duties of a Municipality and in matters affecting private rights, in which case the decision of a perfectly independent tribunal is necessary. There is a wide difference between such rights and rights and duties which are really part of the work of Government. The Municipality is a body vested with some of the authority of the Government of the country, and it should be properly regarded as a body which is subordinate to the Government of the country, and so it is regarded in every country in the world. In Paris, in Berlin, in London, the Government of the country is vested with the supreme authority and the supreme responsibility of disposing of public duties, but as it cannot attend to everything itself, it has its subordinate officers, and, where it is possible, local bodies are constituted for local purposes. But who in the long run is responsible to the individuals of each community against gross abuse of authority, but the Government of the country. Therefore, I submit, that as a matter of Government we must have a hierarchy of institutions, and subordinate authorities must be placed under superior authority. The Government ought to make up its mind with the utmost care, prudence, discretion, and forbearance; but when the Government has made up its mind that something is wrong, it is erroneous in principle to say that it should not have power then and there to act, but that authority should be given to some other tribunal to judge between it and the subordinate authority. That is the principle on which this section is based. Therefore on the whole I submit that the proper principle is that the responsible authority must be given the power after it has given full consideration to the matter and has made up its mind. And that being so, may we not fairly appeal to the experience of all other parts of the world? Can the Hon. Member point to any provision such as exists in the Act of 1876? In France, there can be no question that Municipalities are absolutely and entirely under the control of the Government: the President of the Republic has complete power over municipalities. In Paris, it is entirely under the Prefect of the Seine and the Prefect of Police. And a similar rule prevails everywhere. In Bombay, a precisely parallel case, where a portion of the members of the Corporation are appointed by the Government, we have the same principle; and in Madras it is the same. In India, that appears to me to be the legitimate and proper position which the Government must exercise. On the other hand, it seems desirable that that principle once safeguarded, the Government should make every concession it can, consistently with the working of the principle, to the position of the Corporation. On that ground we are much indebted to Your Honor that the Corporation should, under such circumstances, have been given a right of appeal. That right can no doubt be granted without any serious incumbrance to the exercise of the authority. It is in itself a very moderate safeguard. The Hon. Member asked why it should not be incumbent on the Government in the first instance to call for an explanation from the Commissioners. But by a concession of the kind offered by Your Honor, you practically concede what is asked. I know that there is a strong feeling in many quarters that in doing that the Government has made an unnecessary concession, and it is perfectly possible that if that view had been pressed on the Council, a majority might have been found to agree with it; and that makes us all the more indebted to you for making the concession, and it is the utmost concession which Your Honor can make consistently with principle, Your Honor being the responsible authority.

One more argument before I sit down. It is but fair to point out that a very great change has taken place, or, I should rather say, the experience of past years has made a great change in the aspect which this question now presents. If I read to the Council from a speech delivered by the late Hon. Kristo Das Pal when he objected to a similar provision which was first proposed, it will be apparent that what he made the primary objection to the principle no longer exists. He said—

"This was the last straw which broke the camel's back. If this section passed, he would rather set his face against an elected system than vote for it in this form. The section gave power to the Local Government to modify or cancel rates which might be fixed by the Municipal Commissioners after full and mature deliberation. So long as this section should remain a part of the statute book, he did not know whether any independent gentlemen, with any feeling of self-respect, would care or would be willing to work for an object which would be likely to be set at nought at the pleasure of the Government. The other day the Justices, after days of labour and discussion came to the decision, that a 7½ per cent. house-rate would be sufficient for the year. The Chairman was not of course satisfied with that decision, and, as under the present law, the Government had no power to alter the rates, the Chairman was bound to accept the decision of the Justices so long as they saw no reason to alter it. But if the Government had power under the existing law in the way proposed in this section, then the Chairman might have at once gone up to Government, and the rate passed might have been cancelled. It might be urged that Government would not unnecessarily exercise that power. But at the same time Babu Kristo Das Pal submitted, with due deference to the Government that it would be chiefly inspired or guided by the Chairman in a matter like this. Government could not be expected to be master of those details which the Chairman, it was thought, ought to be; and in such a matter the Government would necessarily be guided by the Chairman. With every deference to his hon. friend who now so ably filled the office of Chairman to the Justices, he submitted that the tendency of the executive had always been to expend money, and that tendency it had been the business of the working Justices to control.

"That, he submitted, was a healthy policy. He thought such a state of things was good for the town. Good, because the Chairman, as the executive officer, might be anxious to undertake works of improvement which might be desirable to carry out, and good, because there was an independent body of working Justices to temper the excessive zeal of the Chairman, and their conduct in this way helped to preserve the much-needed equilibrium. But once that power was destroyed or lost, it would come to this, that the Chairman, however reasonably he might be overruled by the Commissioners, would have only to appeal to the Government, and, as the representative of the Government, he would in nine cases out of ten be likely to be supported by it. Such being the tendency of this section, he was sorry he could not support it, and he was compelled to say that, if it were carried, it would defeat the very object for which His Honor so laudably sought."

The whole gist of his objection was that the Chairman would be constantly rushing up to the Government to appeal against the Commissioners. Has not experience shown that that is quite contrary to the spirit in which the Act has worked? Does not the Chairman recognize that his interest and the interest of the Corporation are the same; that his success is their success and that their success is his success? And so long as that is the spirit which guides the Corporation, I do not think there is any reasonable fear of the Chairman going up to Government; of any constant appeal to Government from within the Corporation. That was the only way in which the late Hon. Kristó Das Pal thought the principle of the section originally proposed was unwise; but as far as the outside public was concerned, he admitted that if, say, 500 rate-payers petitioned the Government, the section should be brought into operation.

For all these reasons, I think it will be fittest for the Council not to accept the amendment, and to be satisfied that the Corporation will always have a right of appeal to the Government of India.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter in reply said:—I have listened very attentively to what has fallen from the hon. member in charge of the Bill, but I fail to see how he has attempted to meet the objections I have raised to the section. He has made general statements which an advocate will always make when he has a bad case to deal with, but he has not attempted to meet the objections which I raised. All throughout he has made general statements. As to the quotation from the speech of the late Hon. Kristo Das Pal, I submit that everything he then said applies in every possible way to the present time. Suppose this section is not altered, but is passed as it has been framed, will the relations between the Chairman and the Corporation be of the same character as they have been in the past? I think if the law was different, the Chairman would on many occasions have gone up to the Government; the Act has worked well, because the law insisted upon an enquiry. We have no experience of what would have happened if the law had been different; our past experience, therefore, does not help us. The late Hon. Kristo Das Pal put it on that ground alone. I did not put it on that ground. I never referred to the possibility of the Chairman being the person who would be the complainant: that is a matter wholly immaterial to my argument. We are asked why the Government should not interfere if the Commissioners omitted to register births and deaths or to name streets and number premises. If that happened, the interference of Government should be very different. It should not be supersession by the appointment of a person to register births and deaths or to name streets or number premises, but the interference would take the form of establishing a totally different system of Municipal Government. If it is possible to conceive that the Commissioners should fail to provide for the performance of these obvious duties, then the course would be not to supersede the Commissioners in the manner indicated in the Bill, but to supersede them completely, and to have another system for the administration of the affairs of the town. To my mind the two things are as totally distinct as it is possible to conceive, but I do not think it is possible any such thing can happen. I am told that if it is not possible to happen, what objection is there? I object to this provision on principle; that it is a provision which should not be left without reasonable safeguards. Then I am referred to the words "general default." The expression "general default" has not been defined in the Bill, and I do not know what it means; whether the omission to name two or three streets or a hundred streets would be considered "general default." It would be very difficult to say how a court of law would interpret this "expression," or how the Local Government would interpret it. Then my hon. friend has thought fit to say that on the last occasion when this question was considered it was decided on an erroneous principle. I have listened very attentively to find where the principle lies, but I have failed to find any principle involved in it. My hon. friend says that if such default is committed, who is the person who should take action but the Local Government? My answer is that it will be impossible for the Local Government, constituted as it is, to have any opinion on the subject, unless it causes a proper enquiry to be made by an independent person or tribunal. When a memorial signed by 500 or 1,000 persons is submitted to the Government, it is primâ facie evidence that the complaint is a just one, and no reasonable man can object to the exercise of this power in such a case; but if the complaint is to be enquired into in the mode indicated in the law, and if, as the result of that enquiry, the Local Government is to exercise the power, then I do not see where the principle suffers. It is not to be an enquiry made by a Secretary to Government or some other Government official; but by independent persons, assisted by a nominee of the Commissioners, so that the nominee of the Commissioners will be able to place before his colleagues the fullest information on which it would be possible for the Commissioners to come to a finding. Therefore I humbly submit that there is no question of principle involved in the section. My hon. friend has asked me to show whether there is in England or elsewhere, or in this country, any such provision of law as that contained in Act IV of 1876 or in my amendment. I say there is not, and it is because Calcutta is differently circumstanced from other towns that it was thought fit to make this provision. May I not retort and ask whether the hon. member can point to any case where an appeal to the Government of India from the decision of the Local Government has been allowed? If he cannot, then does not that show conclusively that the circumstances of the case are different, and that therefore a different procedure is applicable. I would also urge that as this appeal is to be allowed, the order must be made after the Commissioners have been heard. Where is the objection to provide for such hearing? If that is the intention of the section, why not plainly say so? Where is the objection to state plainly what the law intends, and to say so plainly if that is the intention? We know as a fact that on the occasion to which I have referred, the Commissioners were not heard before they were condemned; and therefore I am extremely anxious that it should be stated plainly, so that there should not be the slightest doubt on the subject. Under these circumstances, I hope that notwithstanding the opposition of my hon. friend, Your Honor, as President of the Council, will see your way to support these amendments. One thing more I have to say. If my hon. friend, the member in charge of the Bill, is so much struck with the erroneous principle of this section of the existing Bill, why was not the amending section proposed by him when he introduced the Bill? It was not proposed by him, but it was brought forward by the hon. Mr. Macaulay at the very last moment. It is a matter of surprise that the hon. member in charge of the Bill, who is so much struck with the erroneous principle of the existing law, never brought forward any amendment of it.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee said in reply—The Hon. Member in charge of the Bill has been pleased to point out the necessity for retaining the section in the general terms in which it stands, on the ground that although general default in the performance of their duties by the Corporation may not be a very probable thing, yet it is possible, and that when such a possibility happens, there will be good reason for the interference of Government. I have not had the honour of being a member of the Corporation, and it is therefore not for me to say what default by the Corporation is possible and what is not possible; but we have the word of the Hon. Member himself that it is not very probable that such default will be made. If that is so, where is the necessity to provide for a mere possible contingency which may after all never happen? I should have thought that the work of providing for probable contingencies is work enough for us. Then as to the question of enquiry, it has been said that it involves an erroneous principle, and the hon. member in charge of the Bill entered into a discussion on the general question as to whether the functions of the Municipality are functions delegated by the Government or are independent functions. I do not think it necessary to enter into a discussion as to whether the Municipality is an independent body and entitled to have any question in dispute between it and the Government decided by an independent tribunal. I concede to the fullest extent the correctness of the principle laid down by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, but I must say the hon. member has been labouring under a misapprehension. When I addressed the Council, I did not say that any of the powers of the Local Government to judge are to be curtailed in any way. I think I said, with some degree of distinctness, that I wanted the Corporation to be represented by some one on their behalf as an assessor, in order that the controlling authority, the Local Government, may be in full possession of the facts and details into which it would be necessary to enter to enable the Government to come to a right decision. I do not think that would infringe any principle of law or justice. My amendment concedes that the Local Government shall have the right to judge; all I say is that it will be assisted very materially if it has before it the report of a Commission consisting, amongst others, of one member at least who has been nominated by the Commissioners.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter's motion that (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j) and (k) of clause (5) and clause (6) of section 37, be omitted, was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee's motion that in line 5 of section 38, after the word "duties" the words "relating to public health" be inserted, being put, the Council divided:—

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee's motion that in line 7 of section 38, after the word "enquiry" the words "by a Commission consisting of three persons, two of whom shall be appointed by the Local Government, and one by the Commissioners in meeting," be inserted, being put, the Council divided:—

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter's motion that, for section 38, the following be substituted, being put, the Council divided:—

"Upon complaint made to the Local Government that the Commissioners have made general default in the performance of any of the duties enumerated in clauses (3) and (4), and in (a) and (b) of clause (5), the Local Government, may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint a Commission, consisting of three persons, of whom one shall be the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal or any Medical Officer officiating for him, the second shall be appointed by the Commissioners in meeting within a fortnight from the date of the said notification, or in their default by the Local Government, and the third by the Local Government. And the Local Government shall order the members of the said Commission to report within a certain time to be fixed by the Local Government whether they are of opinion that any such general default has been made, and in that case to specify in their report what further provision should be made towards the performance of any of the duties in respect of which such default has been made, and to submit an estimate of the cost of the said further provision."

	The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.
	His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter, by leave, withdrew the motion that after section 38, the following new section be inserted:—

"38A. On receipt of the said report, the Local Government shall forward the same for the consideration of the Commissioners; and if the Commissioners shall decline to carry out the provisions recommended therein, the Local Government may order that such provisions, or any of them, or any portion of them, respectively, be carried out; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Commissioners to comply with such orders, and to provide the funds mentioned in the said estimate or such portion thereof as the Local Government may fix; and the Chairman shall forthwith carry out such order and shall defray the cost of carrying out the same from the Municipal Fund, notwithstanding any power conferred on the Commissioners by section sixty-one or anything to the contrary contained in any other provision of this Act:

Provided that if there is a difference of opinion among the members of the said Commission, the opinion and report of the majority of the said members shall be held to be the opinion and report of the Commission."

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter moved that, for the first paragraph of section 39, the following be substituted:—

"The Commissioners at a special meeting to be held for that purpose may, from time to time, nominate a proper and fit person residing within the limits of Calcutta to be appointed by the Local Government as the Chairman of the Commissioners."

He said:—Under the present Municipal Law of Bengal many municipalities have been entrusted with the duty of appointing their own Chairman, and of late this concession has been extended even to some of the minor municipalities. I fail to see why the Calcutta Municipality should not have some voice in the appointment of their Chairman. The policy of the law, as laid down in this Bill and in the existing Act, seems to be as if it was intended that the Commissioners should have some voice in the matter; for we find that in the appointment of officers on a salary not exceeding Rs. 200 per mensem, the Chairman of the Corporation has uncontrolled power. Then, as regards appointments between Rs. 200 and Rs. 500, he is to make nominations to the Commissioners, and the Commissioners are to appoint one of the persons so nominated by the Chairman; and in regard to appointments of Rs. 500 a month and upwards, the Commissioners have the absolute power of appointment subject to the approval of the Local Government. But there is one appointment as to which the Commissioners do not seem to have any power whatsoever. I fail to understand why that should be so. If they are competent to appoint all the superior officers of the Municipality, subject to the sanction of the Local Government, surely they ought to be allowed to have the privilege of nominating a person to be their Chairman. It seems to me that the Commissioners are in an excellent position to make such a nomination. So far as the appointments hitherto made by the Government of Chairmen of the Corporation are concerned, I believe they have given satisfaction generally. There was only one case in which satisfaction was not given, but with that exception the appointments made by the Government generally gave satisfaction. But I claim on principle that the Commissioners should have some voice in the appointment of their Chairman. If it be considered that the amendment proposed by me goes too far, I shall be quite content to make a modified proposal. In the same way as the Chairman is required to submit three names to the Commissioners in respect of appointments between Rs. 200 and Rs. 500 a month, the Commissioners might be authorised to send up to Government three names, out of which the selection should be made for the appointment of Chairman of the Corporation. If that proposal is approved, I shall have no objection to modify my amendment. My object is simply that the views of the Commissioners should be considered, and that the Government should make the appointment after the Commissioners have made their nominations.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said:—I regret that my hon. friend in charge of the Bill leaves it to me to oppose the amendment. I do so on two grounds. First, I think that my hon. friend has proceeded on a wrong line in suggesting that the appointment of the Chairman is in any way of the same character as other officers of the Corporation. He has, I think, overlooked the provisions of section 61 of the Bill, under which the Chairman may exercise all the powers of the Commissioners. That removes the appointment from the same category as the subordinate officers of the Corporation. Beyond that we have to regard Calcutta in a different light from other municipalities in Bengal. No one would be more ready than myself to see the principle of Local Self-Government extended as far as possible, and I fully admit that the nomination to the office of Chairman is a proper development of that principle, and that this power should be given to the Commissioners of Municipalities where it can be given safely

But I draw a serious distinction between Calcutta and Municipalities in the interior. It must be remembered that in Mofussil Municipalities the Commissioners are concerned in managing their own affairs. In Calcutta the Commissioners are, to a great extent, managing the affairs of people in all parts of the world who are concerned in the welfare of the town as it affects commerce, though they have never been and may never be in Calcutta. We must look upon Calcutta as the capital of a great Empire, and, as such, we should secure as far as we possibly can its good Municipal Government.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—I was in no way unwilling to oppose this amendment myself; but as I was convinced that my hon. friend, Mr. Macaulay, would do so much more forcibly and eloquently than I could, I asked him to reply to the observations of the hon. mover of the amendment. Nevertheless I will add a few words, and in doing so I would draw attention to the difference between Calcutta and the homogeneous municipalities in the mofussil. In Calcutta the main difficulty lies in this—that there are people of different classes, different races, different nationalities and different religions, all of whose affairs have to be managed impartially and equitably by the Municipality. Looking at it in that light, is it desirable that the Chairman should be nominated by the Commissioners? The problem is an extremely complex one, and might well lead one to suppose that nothing short of administration by an officer of Government would satisfy all parties. It is of the utmost importance that any tendency to special national and race sympathies should be kept out of the Municipality. For this reason it seems most unwise that the appointment of Chairman should be thrown into the cauldron of Municipal contests as a prize to be carried off by the strongest party. The Chairman of the Municipality should be of no party, so that he may deal with all parties on an equality. If you make him the nominee of one particular party, would you not bring about the very thing you wish as much as possible to prevent? He would simply be the nominee of the majority, and the more completely he would be in harmony with the views and feelings of the majority, the more effectually would he work in the very way he should not work: any Chairman who would be competely in harmony with one party would be as completely antagonistic to the others. On the other hand, the Local Government, which is extremely interested in the welfare of all parties, and which has the best means of judging between them, should be the authority to select a fit person for the appointment. The Hon. Member has himself borne testimony to the success of the present mode of appointing the Chairman during the last ten years. Could they do better then let well alone?

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said in reply:—My own experience is that the Chairman has always belonged to one of the parties in the Corporation, and the members of the opposition to the other; so that there have been two parties, the Chairman and his followers, and the members of the opposition. It is a mistake to say that the Chairman is wholly independent of parties, because it cannot be so. He has to work by majorities. I think the very reasons he has assigned strongly support my contention. Many municipalities have been entrusted with this privilege, and surely the metropolis of the Empire can be trusted with it. We have not got any experience of nominations by the Commissioners; but in one or two instances in which the Government accepted the views of the Commissioners, the appointment gave complete satisfaction. In every instance, as the hon. member in charge of the Bill said, there would be competition, and the Chairman would side with the party which elected him; but it is very difficult to say whether in practice it would so happen. I can, however, conceive it to be quite possible for the nomination to be made without canvassing. If my hon. friend desires to restrict the appointment to the members of the Civil Service, he is right in what he said; but if the appointment is to be thrown open to other persons, then the nomination should be left to the Commissioners. It may be that the Commissioners would nominate a gentleman who is not a member of the Civil Service, and such person may turn out a success; but without allowing the thing to work, it is difficult to say what would be the result. The ultimate power would rest with the Local Government to accept the nomination of the Commissioners; and, with this safeguard, I do not see why this privilege should not be granted to the Corporation. I think the Commissioners have shown that they are persons who ought to be trusted.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that in line 7 of section 41 for the words "Collector of Taxes" the word "Collector" be substituted.

He said:—The term "Collector of Taxes" was a misnomer. The Act distinguishes between rates and taxes. Taxes are imposed on trades and professions, and rates are levied from the community at large. As a matter of fact, the Collector is the Collector of Rates, and not the Collector of Taxes; the latter being collected by the officers of the License Department.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The further consideration of the clauses of the Bill was postponed to the next sitting of the Council.

BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884. In doing so, he said:—This is a measure to which Your Honour made reference in your opening Address. But I may inform the Council that since that address was delivered, some correspondence had taken place between the Government of India and the Local Government, with the result that the scope of the Bill will be much more limited than was originally proposed. It was originally suggested that the Government of Bengal should have the same power as other Local Governments in India under their respective Municipal Acts, without referring to the Commissioners of a Municipality, to exclude from its limits any lands or buildings in the occupation of the State for State purposes. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, represented that as the law stood any change of limits would require the sanction of the Commissioners of the Municipality, we have practically to guard against two dangers; undue assessment and undue interference. As regards undue assessment it was considered that the interests of the State were sufficiently protected by the Imperial Municipal Taxation Act, XI of 1881; and as regards protecting State property from undue interference, it was believed that it might be effected by restricting the power of the Government with regard to altering the limits of Municipalities to lands and buildings belonging to the State of a particular character. In this view the Government of India concurred. The Council are aware that the necessity for legislation arose out of the proceedings of the North Barrackpore Municipality. The Commissioners of that Municipality claimed the right to enter upon and to inspect the premises of the Gunpowder Manufactory, and the Superintendent of that Manufactory represented—and it was a reasonable representation—that that was a power which could not ordinarily be exercised without risk to the very delicate and dangerous operations under his control. The Commissioners, however, had the power, and so long as the Act remained in force, and the manufactory was within their Municipality, they were entitled to exercise that power. The only way out of the difficulty was to alter the limits of the Municipality so as to exclude this magazine from the municipal limits. The Commissioners declined to give their assent to this proposal, and we now ask the Council to amend the Act so as to give the Government power to do so without the consent of the Commissioners of the Municipality. It has been considered that cases of this kind will be sufficiently met if section 9 of the Act be amended so as to give the Government power to exclude from municipal limits any land or buildings in the occupation of the State for military or for naval purposes. With that object, I ask leave to introduce a Bill.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 7th April, 1888.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last
The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The num e the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stion in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 17th April 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 13TH APRIL 1888.

At the close of the previous week, ordinary hot weather conditions prevailed over Bengal. As is usual at this season, hot dry westerly winds were blowing in Behar, in West and Central Bengal, and had even penetrated over a large part of North Bengal. In South-West Bengal south-westerly winds were blowing, bringing up moderate amounts of moisture into the Province; while in East and South-East Bengal very moist southerly and south-easterly winds were blowing. Down the Assam Valley a steady north-easterly current was reported, which apparently penetrated along the foot of the hills as far as Julpigoree. The meteorological conditions in neighbouring districts of the Province on the 6th were very diverse. Thus at Rampore Beauleah on this day a dry south-westerly wind was reported, the saturation with moisture being only 23 per cent., at Bogra the air saturation was only 21 per cent., and at Berhampore only 18 per cent., while in the neighbouring part of South-East Bengal winds were very moist, and thus at Dacca the air saturation was 70 per cent. and at Furreedpore 65 per cent. On the 7th a sudden increase in the strength of the moist winds appears to have taken place, and humidity rose rapidly at many stations, only, however, to decrease quite as suddenly on the following day, when apparently a rapid increase took place in the strength of the dry westerly wind which was blowing over the north and centre of the Province. These remarkable changes in humidity, which point to equally remarkable and sudden shifts of wind with probably more or less corresponding changes of temperature during the period April 6th to the 9th, are best shown in the form of a small table.

Table showing the saturation of air with moisture. Complete saturation = 100.

From these figures it will be clearly seen that the moisture laden current, which on the 6th was confined to the south of the Province, had advanced between the 6th and the 7th in a northerly direction, and had on the morning of the 7th penetrated as far as Central Bengal, as represented by Berhampore, and into the southern part of North Bengal, as represented by Rampore Beauleah, Bogra, Maldah and Rungpore; but that it had failed to reach as far as Dinagepore. The moisture laden current was, however, driven back during the period 10 A.M. of the 7th to the 8th, and by 10 A.M. of the 8th the dry westerly wind had almost completely re-established its former position. These fluctuations in the area occupied by these more or less opposite winds are unusually large and well-marked, and such cannot happen unless the atmosphere is in a somewhat disturbed condition. The result of such a conflict of more or less opposing winds, varying so largely as to humidity, &c., is usually to produce the local storms known as nor'westers; and as a matter of fact, during the first few days of the week, local storms were reported from several stations in the Dacca, Chittagong, Noakholly, Mymensingh and Tipperah districts of East Bengal.

In addition, however, to the usual local storms or nor'westers which thus occurred, the disturbed conditions in the Dacca district were accompanied by the formation of a small but very violent tornado or whirlwind, which passed through the town of Dacca and the neighbouring district on the evening of the 7th, and which caused much destruction of life and property throughout its course. It is very rarely that Bengal is visited by storms of this type, and on account of the suddenness of their appearance, their short duration, the small path over which they act with destructive violence, and the difficulty in obtaining reliable and accurate accounts of the phenomena preceding and attending them, no attempt has hitherto been made to work out scientifically the subject of Indian tornadoes. Two or three only have in fact been described. On the other hand, tornadoes of the most violent character are rather frequent in parts of the United States, and the scientific work which has there been done on their history shows that the atmospheric conditions which appear invariably to precede the formation of a tornado are violent contrasts of temperature and humidity immediately to the north and south of the path to be traversed by the storm. From the above description of the weather in parts of East and North Bengal at the beginning of the week, it will be seen that the conditions were precisely those which are invariably found to precede tornadoes in the United States. In addition, however, to these antecedent conditions, there must be some particular cause or set of causes which must determine the formation of a tornado, but of which nothing is at present known, for similar, though perhaps not such violent, contrasts of temperature and humidity in different air currents in Bengal frequently happen at this season of the year; yet in most cases they are only followed by the formation of dust-storms and nor'westers, but which are sometimes very fierce, and it is only from the presence of some unknown exceptional conditions that perhaps once in five or ten years excessively fierce whirl winds, tornadoes or even water-spouts are formed, instead of the usual class of Indian hot-weather storms. Much doubt exists as to where the enormous energy displayed in tornadoes is derived from; but it is possible, as in the case of cyclones, the energy is derived from the condensation of aqueous vapour into rain, for in most tornadoes torrential rain follows after the passage of the storm.

Detailed and accurate accounts of the Dacca tornado have not yet been received; but the meteorological observer at that station estimates its width to have been only 200 yards; it pursued apparently a zigzag course for a considerable distance both over Dacca and parts of the surrounding country, but its commencement and ending have not been accurately ascertained. The general track of the storm was probably from S.W. to N.E., and it passed through the compound of the meteorological observatory. The observatory and its instruments were not damaged, as at this period the violence of the storm did not reach down to the ground, but the tops only of five large trees in the compound were cut off at about 30 feet from the ground. The time of commencement of the storm at the observatory is given by the observer to be 7-30 P.M. (? Madras or local time), and its duration to have been three minutes only. The force of the wind was excessive. Further details will be given when the full history of the storm is subsequently discussed.

The remaining details of the meteorology of the week are of comparatively little interest In connection apparently with the disturbed conditions which gave rise to the tornado, a large low pressure area was developed over North Bengal on the 8th, which still existed on the 9th, but which disappeared on the 10th. There is, however, nothing at present to show that any barometric depression was generated previous to the formation of the storm on the 7th. For the remainder of the week there have been the usual slight oscillations of pressure and temperature; but in the case of humidity at the stations considerably removed from the sea coast, the percentage of saturation has been exceptionally low almost throughout the week, except when the abnormal oscillations of humidity above referred to occurred in the central and eastern parts of the province.

Pressure.—Generally for the first two days of the week fell decidedly; from the 9th to the 11th a slight but distinct rise occurred; while on the 12th and 13th pressure again commenced to fall by small amounts. As already stated, a low pressure area existed over North Bengal for a part of the week, and at such stations as Rungpore and Julpigoree the average pressure for the week has been more than a tenth of an inch below the normal. Taking into consideration only the stations from which averages have been received for a series of years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure of the Province for the week has been 0·067 inch below the normal.

Temperature—Has throughout the week been very high, and the mean temperature of the whole province has been two degrees in excess of the normal; while in such districts as Chutia Nagpur and North Bengal the excess has been nearly three degrees. Some very high maximum temperatures have again been recorded, the hottest day of the week being usually the 13th. The following are some of the highest temperatures recordod :—

At Calcutta (Alipore) the highest temperature during the week was 100·4° on the 9th.

The following table shows the temperature variations during the week at eight typical stations in the province :—

Winds.—In addition to the facts with reference to the distribution of the winds given in the general summary, the strength of the southerly winds blowing during the week at the head of the Bay has to be noticed, and thus at Saugor Island from the 7th to the 8th 648 miles were recorded on the anenometer, and from the 12th to the 13th 600 miles. The average daily velocity at Saugor Island during the week has been no less than 535 miles, or 22 miles an hour.

Rainfall.—The only rainfall which has occurred during the week has been in East Bengal which has been brought by the local storms as previously described. The average rainfall, in East Bengal, has, however only been 0·16 inch. With this exception the whole Province has been rainless. At Dacca the rainfall on the 7th was only 0·42 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 13th of April 1888 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE following is a summary of the main facts connected with the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 31st March 1888, as deduced from the annexed table—

1. That, during the week in question, births and deaths were registered in the proportions, respectively, of 20·1 and 27·8 per 1,000 of population, as opposed to 22·5 and 29·3 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 24th March, indicating a retrogression in their registration.

2. That the following Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths:—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Kishnaghur	45·4	Serampore	84·4
Durbhanga	37·8	Comillah	65·5
Monghyr	29·8	Suburbs of Calcutta	57·7
		Bali	35·1
		Beauleah	34·2
		Gya	29·4
		Puri	29·4
		Narainganj	29·0
		Bhagulpore	29·0

3. That the casualty-rates from the principal diseases specified below exhibit no noticeable variations in comparison with the death-rates from the same diseases in the preceding week :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	31st March 1888.	24th March 1888.
Cholera	9·2	9·3
Small-pox	·2	2
Fever	9·0	9·8
Bowel-complaints	2·7	2·6
Injury	·2	·4
Other causes	6·4	7·0

4. That eliminating fever and bowel-complaints which proved notably fatal, the former only in the Beauleah town, viz. at the rate of 21·0 per 1,000 of population, and the latter in the Puri Municipality, viz. at 10·5 per 1,000, and small-pox and injury which did not exhibit any local exacerbation in fatality, cholera and the maladies returned under the head of "other causes" manifested exceptional mortality in the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Serampore ...	60·8	Midnapore	17·0
Comillah ...	50·1	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	11·6
Suburbs of Calcutta	29·4	Gya	10·2
Howrah ...	14·3
Hughli ...	5·4

It will be seen from the above figures that cholera appears to have prevailed very severely in Serampore, Comillah, the Suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah.

5. That the death-rates under the heads of Sex, Class and Age stood as shown below :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation, owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during month ended 25th February 1888.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was an increase in both the upward and downward traffic; that in the former is due to improved demand from the North Western and Bombay Baroda and Central India Railways, and the increase in the downward traffic is due to despatches for the Eastern Bengal State Railway over the Jubilee Bridge.

Fruits other kinds.—The increase was principally in betelnuts from Howrah, Sealdah and Digha Ghât.

Gram and pulses.—

Other rain and spring crops.—This was in continuation of the increase reported in previous months, and was due to scarcity of food-grains in the North-Western Provinces.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—There was a decrease in weight carried attended with an increase in the earnings, and this was due to the rice being carried long distances upwards this year, instead of, as in 1887, short distances downwards.

Minerals.—Due chiefly in lime from Ranegunge for the Kidderpore Dock works.

Iron.—This was chiefly in despatches from Howrah for the Government Telegraph Department, and in pig-iron from Barakar.

Oil.—The increase under this head was chiefly in kerosine oil from Howrah.

Salt.—The increases were in the despatches from Howrah and viâ Agra; from Howrah the increase is attributable to a heavy speculation in Calcutta on account of the increased duty imposed on salt

Seeds.—The increases were chiefly in linseed, mustard and rape and indigo seed; the former was due to an active demand in Calcutta for export; that in mustard and rape seed to increased despatches from the Bengal and North Western Railway. The increase in indigo seed was chiefly in the despatches from Delhi.

Spices.—Chiefly in chillies from Mokameh and the Tirhoot State Railway to Howrah.

DECREASES.

Cotton.—Due to the same cause as given last month, viz. want of supplies.

Piece-goods, European.—The decrease was both from Howrah and viâ Jubbulpore, principally in the despatches to Cawnpore.

Turmeric.—Principally in despatches from Howrah.

Wheat.—There was very little export business, and the wheat carried during the month was principally for local consumption.

Government stores.—This was almost entirely in the despatches from Howrah.

Brass and copper.—Due to advanced prices during the month, which prevented business being done.

Opium.—Due to despatch of Government opium being postponed.

Railway material, Foreign.—The decrease was chiefly in despatches from viâ Jubbulpore; there was an increase in weight in the short lead traffic from Howrah, attended with a decrease in earnings.

Sugar and jaggree.—There was an increase in weight carried, with a decrease in earnings due to short lead traffic from the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway.

For regulating the conduct of proceedings at meetings of the Commissioners.

1. At least three days' notice of all meetings shall be given to every Commissioner. Provided that the annual budget estimate shall be circulated to all the Commissioners at least a fortnight before the date is fixed. Provided also that the accidental failure of service of notice on any Commissioner shall not invalidate the proceedings of any meeting.

2. The notice shall set forth clearly and fully, both in English and vernacular, the business to be transacted at the meeting.

3. The business at meetings of the Commissioners shall be conducted in English. If any of the Commissioners present do not understand English, it shall be the duty of the President to have the subject-matter explained to him in vernacular.

4. Notices of motions accompanied by verbatim draft must be sent to the Chairman or Vice-Chairman in time to be included in the list of business for the next meeting. Notices received too late shall be inserted in the list of business of the next succeeding meeting.

Adjourned Meetings.

5. An adjourned meeting is not competent to transact any business save that which the original meeting left unfinished.

Order of Business.

6. At ordinary meetings the business shall be conducted in the following order:—

(a) The minutes of the last ordinary meeting and of any special meeting held since shall be read and, if approved as correctly entered, shall be signed by the Chairman of such meeting.

(b) Business postponed from the last ordinary meeting shall be considered.

(c) A progress report of works shall be laid before the Committee.

(d) Letters and reports of Committees shall be read, and accounts and statements shall be considered and passed.

7. At a special meeting, only the business for which the meeting was called shall be considered. Provided that with the consent of the majority of the members present any other business may be considered.

8. In the event of any objection being raised to the manner in which any resolution has been recorded, the Chairman shall decide the question after reference to the original draft of the resolution, and if he finds the minute to be inaccurate, shall make the necessary correction in the minute book.

9. Unless by permission of the majority of the meeting, all subjects shall be discussed in the order in which they appear in the notice paper.

Of Motions and Amendments.

10. Every motion and amendment duly moved must be seconded, and until seconded no debate thereon can take place.

11. Every motion or amendment duly made and seconded and pressed to a division, shall be reduced to writing and signed by the proposer and seconder before being put to the vote. Every such resolution or amendment shall be recorded in full in the proceedings, together with the number and names of voters for and against it.

12. Every amendment shall be so worded as to be capable of making an intelligible sentence either alone or in its proper place in an original motion, as the case may be, provided that no amendment can merely negative the original motion.

13. The President of the meeting may, for reasons to be recorded in writing and entered in the minutes of the proceedings,—

(a) Rule that a motion or amendment is illegal or out of order, and

(b) Make such alterations in a motion or amendment as shall, in his opinion, render it legal and in order;

Chittagong Collectorate, the 9th April 1888.

A. MANSON, Collector

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of lands situated in pergunnah Chainpur, which are no longer required by Government for the purpose for which they were acquired, will be put up to public auction at the Shahabad Collectorate on the 8th June 1888, at noon, and will be sold to the highest bidder on the conditions specified below :—

(a).—On the termination of the sale the auction purchaser will be required to deposit a sum equal to one-fourth of the purchase money, failing which the land will be resold immediately.

(b).—Within a period of 30 days from the date of sale the auction purchaser must pay the entire amount due from him on account of the sale; in the event of his failing to pay in the money within the prescribed time, the deposit of one-fourth money will be forfeited by him and the land resold.

(c).—If the price obtained by the second sale falls short of that offered at the original sale, the first auction purchaser will be required to make good the difference.

Maps of the several plots to be sold are available for inspection in the office of the Collector.
